ALBERT MCELROY DIES AS RESULT OF INJURY

Albert McElroy, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElroy, died this morning as the result of injuries received Sunday afternoon while riding logs in the Stillwater river about a half a mile above the city water works pumping station.

A companion, whose name has not been learned, was the only one who saw the accident, and he was not aware that the boy was seriously injured at the time. He said that Albert was thrown from the log he was riding as it struck shallow water in the rapids. He was crawling back onto the log, when he was struck by another which was being driven rapidly downstream.

This witness to the accident said he was on the opposite side of the stream and was unable to see exactly what had happened, but as Albert swam out he did not think he was seriously injured. He lay on the bank for a time, and complained of severe pains in his abdomen where he was struck. Finally the other lad became alarmed and telephoned Albert's father, who came and took him home.

Dr. Ross was called and immediately discovered that there were internal injuries. He removed the patient to the Sisters' hospital, and called Dr. Houston in consultation. An operation was performed, but there was little hope of recovery. Although the flesh was not broken on the outside, one of the intestines and an artery had been severed by the force of the impact. It is probable that he was climbing up onto the log he had been riding when the one coming downstream endwise struck him. The accident occurred about 4 o'clock, and it was 8 in the evening before he was operated upon.

Albert was 15 years old, a member of the freshman class at the high school, and very popular among his class-mates and the faculty.

No funeral arrangements have been announced.

FUNERAL OF ALBERT McELROY WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Albert McElroy will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Waggener & Campbell chapel. Rev. B. Scott Yates officiating, and burial will be made in Conrad Memorial cemetery.

GAS CAUSE OF DEATH OF WILLARD MELTON

Details of the accident that cost Willard Melton his life Saturday were not available at the time. It appears that he had been engaged for some time in digging a well at the Star Meadows ranger station forty miles northwest, the old well not being satisfactory. After the well had reached a depth sufficient to make it necessary to use a windlass he had a helper. He had been using an explosive in breaking up the formation in order to get along more rapidly, and Saturday morning had placed two charges at some distance apart at the bottom of the excavation, as he had been accustomed to. In order to be certain that both charges had exploded it was his custom to set off one charge and when the fumes had cleared out of the well, fire the second one. After he had fired one of the charges Saturday he and his helper occupied themselves with other things for a half hour, and then things for a half hour, and then Melton was lowered to light the second fuse. He had merely held by the rope which was not fastened about his body in any way. Reaching reaching the bottom, he stooped and lighted the fuse, and immediately collapsed, evidently overcome by gas which remained from the previous explosion.

His assistant, watching from above, could do nothing alone to get Melton to the surface. If he went down the rope there was no way to get back in the absence of any one to work the windlass. After trying to devise some plan to reach Melton he ran for help, but had gone only a short distance when the charge in the well exploded, blowing the body of Willard out of the well, and high into the air.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation of the consoling words spoken by Rev. Sandy and the music rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Carr also of the many floral offerings of friends, in our recent sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Melton and relatives.
