

GREEK KILLED BY FELLOW WORKMAN AT KILA

ARGUMENT BETWEEN SECTION HANDS RESULTS IN STABBING AFFRAY

As the result of a quarrel between two Great Northern section hands at Kila, Giovanni Roche, an Italian, stabbed and almost instantly killed George Ahillas, a Greek.

The men had been quarreling during the day and the trouble culminated at about 7 o'clock in the evening. According to the only witness to the affair, another Italian, some words passed between them when Roche grabbed one of a number of butcher knives which lay on the table, threw the Greek to the floor, and stabbed him, the knife going entirely through his body in two places, one cut just below his heart evidently causing his death. After the stabbing Ahillas got to his feet, muttered a few words, staggered about ten feet and dropped dead in the doorway.

The sheriff's office was at once notified and Deputies Adams and Metcalf, accompanied by Coroner Waggener started for Kila. About three miles this side of Kila they met Roche and placed him under arrest.

When the officers met Roche it was noticed that he was only half dressed and had the appearance of a fugitive, which gave them a hunch that he was the man they wanted, which proved to be correct. When Deputy Adams started to question him the Italian denied that he had had any trouble at Kila, and started to reach for his hip pocket, where he had a thirty-two caliber automatic. However, Adams was too quick for him and grabbed his hand before he was able to get action. He then broke down and admitted that he had stabbed Ahillas, and was handcuffed and taken back to the scene of the murder. Roche's right hand was badly cut from slipping down on the knife when stabbing Ahillas, and he had bandaged it up, tearing the back out of his vest for this purpose. This fact probably saved a gunplay, as he was unable to reach the revolver, although he made several attempts to do so. The Italian was very cool and collected. He frankly admitted that he had stabbed the Greek five or six times, and said: "I guess he die." When asked why he did it, he answered: "Ahillas, he all da time insult me," and added that "he could have had a knife too if he had wanted one," which proved to be a fact as three or four knives were lying on the table between them when the row started. However, he did not avail himself of the opportunity.

During the quarrel the Greek got up and started for his room, which was adjoining, and in which it was known he had a gun. The Italian evidently thought Ahillas was after it as he grabbed the knife from the table and stabbed him to death before he was able to reach the room.

Roche and the body of the man he had killed were brought back in the same conveyance. He requested the officers to bring along his trunk, which he said he wanted to send to his mother in Italy, as he said: "I guess I don't want it any more. I guess you hang me." On the way in he told of getting his coat and leaving the house, stepping over the body of the man he had killed. He took to the hills, but it was too hard going, and he was obliged to come down onto the road again. When overtaken he was only partially dressed. His shoes were not laced, and in lieu of socks he had torn up parts of his clothing and wrapped them around his feet.

The inquest will be held before Coroner Waggener at 5:30 this evening. The one witness to the affair was placed in charge of the section foreman at Kila, who will bring the man in to give his testimony.

FIRE FIGHTER KILLED

Tree Falls Upon James Barden Crushing Him to Death.—Was a Stranger Here.

James Barden, a fire fighter employed by the Flathead Forest, was killed Wednesday by a falling tree. The accident occurred on Wounded Buck creek in the lower South Fork region, and was unavoidable. Supervisor Bruce states that but little information as to the details could be learned from the men who were working with him, but it is believed that the tree had probably burned around the base and as near as could be learned, fell without warning. He was a temporary man and it could not be learned that he had any friends in this section. However, a letter found among his personal effects showed that he had a brother living in Buffalo, N. Y., and a sister in Loraine, Ohio, who have been communicated with. The body was brought to this city yesterday by Coroner Waggener, and will be held pending advices from relatives.

Bull Mrs William 14 Aug 1914 p1

MRS. WM. BULL PASSES AWAY

Mrs. William Bull, who lives near Flathead lake, about nine miles south of Somers, died at her home on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Bull had been a great sufferer for years, having been ill when she first came to Flathead from her home in Wisconsin about six years ago. For about two years she has been nearly helpless, and her death came as a relief to her intense sufferings. She leaves a husband and several step-sons. The funeral was held this morning at the Bethel church near Somers and interment was made in the church yard.

Butler Sidney H 10 Mar 1914 p1

SIDNEY H. BUTLER, FATHER OF FLATHEAD COUNTY, DEAD

The old-time residents and others of later acquaintance, will receive with sadness and regret the news of the death of Sidney H. Butler, which occurred at an early hour this morning. The funeral will be held sometime tomorrow, and will be in charge of the Masonic lodge. The hour has not yet been fixed.

Sidney H. Butler was among the first settlers in the Flathead, having located on a homestead in the Tobacco plains country in 1884. He afterwards removed to Kalispell, and, in the days when this district comprised part of Missoula county, he was elected to the state legislature, in 1892. He introduced and fought for the bill creating Flathead county, and a great many important arrangements connected with the county organization were left to the wisdom of Mr. Butler. Among them the designation of the county seat. In this, the honesty and true democracy came to the surface, and although he owned a farm near Columbia Falls, he urged the selection of Kalispell as the proper seat of the county, against his own best financial interest.

In after years Mr. Butler held other public offices besides the one already mentioned. He was always recognized as one of the truest of the public spirited citizens of the county and too much cannot be said in his favor in this and other respects.

Before his death, Mr. Butler selected the pallbearers of his own funeral and called in friends who witnessed the signing of his will. He died the quiet and peaceful death of a righteous and worthy citizen. He was a comparatively young man, being only fifty-five years of age at the time of his death.

MRS. JOSEPH EBY DEAD FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Mrs. Joseph Eby of Bellingham, Washington, died at her home in that city on Friday, July 3. The remains were brought to Kalispell and the funeral held at the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, Rev. T. A. Stancliffe conducting the service. The body was placed at rest beside that of her husband who died at Bigfork last summer. Mr. and Mrs. Eby came to this valley in 1890 and much of that time was spent at Bigfork. A daughter, Miss Ruth Eby, survives. She came with the remains of her mother from Bellingham. Mrs. Eby had been ill for a long time and when she and her daughter went to the coast they hoped the change of climate would be of benefit, but she succumbed to tuberculosis. The pall bearers, old-time friends from Bigfork, were J. H. Horn, Paul Smith, George Paul F. E. Beebe, Dr. Henderlite and P. Lehmeke.

Others from Bigfork, who attended the funeral, were Mrs. J. H. Horn, Mrs. West, Mrs. Lehmeke and C. D. Morton.

Interment was made in the Conrad Memorial cemetery.

Joe Dyer and Mrs. Mattie Dyer left Kalispell last Saturday for Bellingham, Wash., on receiving a telegram announcing that Mrs. Joe Eby was not expected to live. She died Friday evening after a long illness. She was a good wife, sister and mother and leaves a daughter, Ruth, to mourn her loss; also two brothers and a sister. Their many friends extend deep sympathy in this, their hour of sorrow. Mrs. Eby was well known at Creston and Big Fork, having lived at the latter place for many years.

Faulkner John 7 Jul 1914 p6

JOHN FAULKNER DEAD

John Faulkner, father of William and Dick Faulkner of this city, died at his home at Ft. Madison, Illinois, Friday afternoon at 4:30. A telegram reached Dick Faulkner Friday afternoon, advising him of the death of his father. He went to Whitefish, and accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Peter Sauntry, left on the 5:50 train for Fort Madison. William Faulkner and family had been summoned home earlier in the week, and reached the bedside of their father before he died. Mr. Faulkner came to Kalispell from Illinois about a year ago to visit his children here, and also in the hope that the change might benefit his health. For a time he was better, and then as he grew worse, he longed to return to the old home, and together with his wife, left for the east last fall. His illness proved to be cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Faulkner is the father of ten children, all of whom are living, and he is also survived by his wife.

Flynn John 17 Apr 1914 p1

DEATH OF JOHN FLYNN

John Flynn, who was ill at the county hospital for several months, died on Wednesday night of apoplexy. He was well known in Kalispell, having been for several years one of the men at the fire station, janitor at the city hall, and in the Conrad bank building. The body is at the Waggener undertaking rooms from which place the funeral will be held on Sunday. He is survived by a wife and two children.

The funeral will be held from the chapel of J. E. Waggener's undertaking establishment at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. Flynn was a member of the Woodmen of the World, and all members of that order are requested to attend the funeral in a body.

Folkes James W 10 Feb 1914 p8

POLSON MAN DIES OF INJURIES SUSTAINED

James W. Folkes, aged about forty years, who formerly lived at the west end of the bridge at Polson, and who was injured while hauling logs on his ranch fifteen miles west two weeks ago, suddenly died from the effects of internal injuries on February 1, at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

While hauling the load the logs rolled, carrying Mr. Folks underneath where he was badly crushed. He had been confined to his bed since and it was believed he was recovering, when a severe hemorrhage brought the end.

The funeral was held from the E. church at 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Folks, who formerly lived across the river. He was an exemplary citizen and his many friends in Polson and the vicinity which he lived share the sorrow with his aged parents.—Polson News.

WILLIAM GREGG DEAD

Aged Man Passed Away Wednesday.
Dream of Deer Hunt Cause of Accident

A dream of earlier days spent in deer hunting in the mountains caused the death of William Gregg, which occurred Wednesday p. m. at 4:15 from injuries sustained in his fall from the third story of the Soldiers' home Monday evening.

At first it was not known how the accident happened, but after he had recovered somewhat from the first shock of his fall, the deceased stated that he went to the dormitory and lay down on a sofa for a few minutes' rest. During his sleep he dreamed that he and one of his old comrades were hunting and had wounded a deer. In his sleep he rushed for the mythical animal, crashing through the window and falling to the ground below.

In a younger man, his injuries might not have proved fatal, but he was 84 years of age and had been growing feeble of late, so that little hope for his recovery was entertained from the first.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Parent and Mrs. John Poy, who remained with him and made his last hours as comfortable as possible, a son, Oliver Gregg, and a brother, E. K. Gregg. Mr. Gregg was one of the oldest pioneers in the Flathead valley, coming in overland long before the days of the railroad, a veteran of the civil war, and was held in the highest esteem by all with whom he came in contact.

The funeral will be held at the Soldiers' home at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and the body will be buried among those of his old comrades in the cemetery grounds.

H. T. GRIMM DIES AT FORT BENTON

Fort Benton, Jan. 19.—Harry T. Grimm, accountant and expert on county records, died here Saturday night at St. Clair's hospital. Mr. Grimm had been in poor health for some time, but it was not known that he was critically ill, and his death was a surprise to most of his friends. Mr. Grimm was about 35 years of age, unmarried and had lived in Montana for several years, during which time he had had several contracts for the transcribing of county records. He had just finished a big contract on the records of Chouteau county, for use in the counties of Hill and Blaine, having been engaged in that work about a year. It is not known that he has relatives in Montana. His father lives in Maryland and his associates here have been endeavoring to get in communication with him. It is expected that the remains will be sent to Maryland for burial.

Many Kalispell people will recall the fact that Mr. Grimm was a familiar figure around the Flathead county courthouse during the transcribing of the records for the use of Lincoln county, and that he was employed for some time by the Commercial Abstract and Title company.

Mr. Grimm bore a reputation of highest competency and made many friends during his short stay in Kalispell, who will regret to learn of his death.

Gustin Dewey 25 Aug 1914 p1

DEWEY GUSTIN DEAD; CAUSE A MYSTERY.

At about one o'clock Tuesday morning, Dewey Gustin was discovered dead in bed at the Central hotel by his wife, a bride of but a week. A post mortem examination was held by Doctors Grousel and Monroe, but all organs were found to be in a healthy condition, and no possible cause for death was ascertained. The vital organs were shipped to state chemist Emil Starz of Helena, for analysis. Gustin, who is a well known horseman in the county, has been employed by Henry Good during the spring. He was a man of unusually robust physique, and was in good health when he retired Monday evening. As soon as Mrs. Gustin discovered that her husband was dead she gave the alarm and the police were notified. They in turn notified the sheriff's office, and the body was removed to the morgue by Coroner Waggenner.

Gustin had many friends in the county, who were greatly shocked and mystified by his sudden death.

Hauser Albert C 16 Jun 1914 p1

LIBBY MAN DROWNED

Libby, June 15.—Albert C. Hauser, prominent man of this place, was drowned in Granite lake, fifteen miles west of here, Friday night. Hauser, accompanied by his 13-year-old son, was fishing on the lake in a canvas boat about twenty yards from the shore when he fell into the water. The boat drifted to shallow water, jumped out of the boat, and pushed it back to shore. Hauser, but by this time the cold water had rendered Hauser helpless to struggle and he sank. A party of men went to the lake and dynamited the dam to raise the body, but without success. The water of Granite lake is very cold and recovery of the body was difficult.

Hauser lived in Libby for about twenty years and is survived by a wife and three children.

Hedlem Dan 5 May 1914 p1

YOUNG MAN COMMITS SUICIDE AT HOTEL SUNDAY MORNING

Early Sunday morning, at about 3 o'clock, Mrs. Beinz of the Beinz hotel, was awakened by hearing a pistol shot, and hurrying to the room from which the report came, discovered that Dan Hedlem, who has been rooming there for only a day or two had shot himself. The dead man is about 25 years of age.

An inquest was held and the decision was that in a fit of temporary insanity the man had shot himself. Coroner Waggener, Dr. Rogers and one of the deputy sheriffs held the inquest. Some rumors to the effect that it might not be a case of suicide were afloat, but as Mrs. Beinz found the dead man within a minute after the shot was fired, with the revolver still in his hand, the rumor was not given credence.

Hedlem had a homestead on the reservation, but for some time previous to his death had been working in the mill at Kila. He has a mother, brother and sister at the homestead, twenty miles from Polson, where he will be taken for burial. The sister came to Kalispell last night.

Henney Edward 14 Aug 1914 p8

STRANGER FOUND DEAD IN CENTRAL HOTEL

A stranger by the name of Edward Henney, who had been stopping at the Central hotel for a couple of days, was found dead in bed Wednesday morning by the proprietor of the hotel. He had been complaining of not feeling well before retiring for the night, and when he did not appear in the morning an investigation was made, and his lifeless body found. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Coroner Waggener, and it was decided that kidney disease was the cause of his death. No trace of any relatives or acquaintances of the dead man have been found. He was buried yesterday morning by the county in the Demersville cemetery.

MISS SARAH JORDAN DIES AT PORTLAND, OREGON
The sad news of the sudden death of Miss Sarah Jordan, sister of Mrs. E. F. Kuster, who went to Portland several weeks ago, because of the serious illness of Mrs. Kuster, was received by Mr. Kuster on Monday, and he left immediately for Portland.
Miss Jordan was in good health when she left Kalispell, and the news of her death comes as a shock to the friends here. She contracted a cold when she first went to the coast, and in a short time it developed into pneumonia, which proved fatal.
Mrs. Kuster has improved in health since she went to the coast, but the shock of her sister's death it is feared will cause a relapse.

FATALITY CAUSED BY TREE FALLING ON HOUSE

MRS. MARTHA LEEA INSTANTLY KILLED, DAUGHTER INJURED BUT BABY IS UNHURT

Mrs. Martha Leea of Bigfork, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon, when a tree which was broken in the severe wind fell across the cabin in which she was living with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Penna. The two women, together with a four-weeks-old baby, were in the house when the storm came up about 2 o'clock. The tree, which was twenty-eight inches in diameter, broke off about twenty feet from the ground and fell directly across the roof of the house, mashing it in on the inmates. Mrs. Leea was instantly killed and Mrs. Penna suffered a broken thigh. The baby was asleep in the buggy and it was unharmed. A number of persons in Bigfork witnessed the accident and immediately hurried to the aid of the women. Axes were required to chop away the debris before they could be extracted from the timbers which were leaning them down. Coroner J. E. Wagner was summoned and took charge of the body of Mrs. Leea, bringing it to Kalispell last evening. Dr. Hendrickson cared for the injured woman. Mrs. Leea is about 58 years of age, and came to this valley from Michigan several years ago. The funeral will be held tomorrow and interment will be in the Conrad cemetery. Mr. Penna, the husband of the injured woman, was working at the lake, and was summoned home immediately after the accident.

The wind storm was one of the worst that has visited the lower valley in a number of years. It passed through the valley in the afternoon, taking a westerly direction, and by the time it had reached the Bigfork valley had attained considerable velocity. In this city no damage was done and the storm lasted but a few moments.
