Coram Mrs Susan 13 Dec 1895

DEATH OF MRS. CORAM.
 Mrs. Susan J. Coram, wife of J. A. Coram, the well known superintendent of the B. & M. Lumber Co. died Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at her home near the B. & M. mill.
 The funeral services were held in the Baptist Church at half past eleven Monday morning. The pallbearers were Master W. C. Whippis, W. A. Conrad, Mr. Miles, Mr. B. B. Gilliland, Mr. Elmer Baden and Mr. J. B. Sinclair.
 Revs. O. W. Mintzer, Geo. M. Fisher and J. W. Falls officiated at the service.
 The remains were interred in the Demersville cemetery.
 Mrs. Coram was born in Nova Scotia in the year 1829. After a residence of some years in the east, Mr. Coram and family became residents of Montana in 1880. Two years were spent in Great Falls, from which place they moved to Kalispell in 1883.
 Both Mr. and Mrs. Coram are widely known and highly esteemed throughout the city and valley.

Mrs. Coram was baptized by Rev. William Bonington of Great Falls and united with the Baptist church of that city. On removing to Kalispell she became a member of the Baptist church of this place where she found not only a church home, but won a warm place in the esteem and increasing circle of friends and acquaintances who lament her death.
 Her death was exceptionally sad and pathetic, after a brief illness, lasting only a few days, death called her away leaving her husband and family to mourn over a loss which earth can never make good.
 With her husband and children, the church mourns her loss and the community shares in their grief.
 May a tear have fallen and will fall in her memory, and for those in the motherless home; may a prayer have been and will be offered to Him, who gathereth and carrieth the lambs in His arms, for the little ones who will miss a mother's loving care and sympathy. She has departed and the snow thoughts of God have woven a burial robe over her grave, but the memory of her goodness, kindness and generosity, will abide with us; her life is now grafted upon the infant and will be fruitful as no earthly life can be.
 We have buried the earthly, but the memory of all that was good in her life lingers to bless the home, the church and the community.
 We extend a heartfelt sympathy to Mr. Coram and family in this sad bereavement and irreparable loss.
 J. W. FALLS.

Harvey Omar H 10 May 1895

Was Tired of Life.
 Omar H. Harvey of Jennings ended his life by morphine Sunday night. He was found Monday morning by M. Carroll, the landlord of the hotel, in an unconscious condition when he went to call him to breakfast. Mr. Carroll at once summoned assistance and everything possible was done to restore him but without effect, and at about two o'clock Harvey died. On the table was found a partially empty bottle labeled "morphine," and it was evident that he had taken it with suicidal intent. The following note was also found lying on the table:
 "It will be no use to get a Doctor and post mortem is not necessary. God bless you and again good bye. Omar.
 Any kind of a box will do. Have me buried by the river. Life may not be quite extinct in the morning; if so tell Capt. to get three or four men to carry me over to the warehouse as he will need this room for a sitting room for these lady guests."
 Coroner Mettler was notified of the death and went up Monday and held an inquest over the body of the unfortunate man. Nothing important was developed at the inquest and the jury after investigating the matter rendered a verdict that Harvey had come to his death by morphine which he had taken with the intent to commit suicide. Harvey had been around as usual the evening before and left word to be called at nine the next morning, probably expecting that by that time he would not be alive.
 It is supposed that domestic troubles caused the rash act.

Howard O H 20 Sep 1895

Found Dead.
The body of O. H. Howard was found in the brush near Fred Whitehead's Sunday morning. Three weeks before Howard, who had been working for Whitehead for a long time, had started out in the evening with a pail of water, toward Ac, to take a bath. He did not come back. Some search was made for him, but it was supposed he had gone away for some reason and would return. Saturday evening the matter of his disappearance was talked over at a meeting of the Knights of Labor, of which order Howard had been a member. It was decided to make a search for him the next morning. This was done, and his body found about two hundred yards from Mr. Whitehead's house. The body was badly decomposed and had been partially eaten by magpies. Coroner Mettler was notified and he at once summoned a jury to view the remains, as it was necessary to bury them without waiting to hold an inquest. What was left of the body was placed in charge of Undertaker Ferry for burial. A telegram was sent to Howard's brother in Fulton county, New York, asking what disposition to make of the body, and he answered to bury it here for the present.
The coroner's inquest was held Tuesday, but nothing much was learned, and a verdict was returned that the cause of death was unknown. It is supposed that heart failure caused his death, but nothing definite is known.

Mitchell W H 4 Oct 1895

Suicide at Libby.
A man named W. H. Mitchell committed suicide at Libby last Thursday. Several years ago he had taken up a ranch near Libby, but abandoned it and went to British Columbia. Last week he came back and found that the ranch had been taken up by another man. He was out of work, out of money, and his ranch was gone. It is supposed that in a fit of ...competency be determined to take his life. He placed his revolver to his side and fired, the ball passing through the body and into the ground. To make sure he then placed the gun to his head and fired, death being instantaneous. He left a note requesting that his revolver be raffled and that he should be buried as he was, and that no inquest be held. Coroner Mettler was notified and he went up on the train the same day, and had the body buried. Mitchell was about 35 years old, and had no family.

McLain Ora 8 Feb 1895

Death of Ora McLain.
 Students of the high school class of 1876 and the entire membership of the P. E. O. of 1886, as well as many intimate friends, will be shocked by the announcement that Mrs. Charles F. McLain, who in her school days was Ora Chesweth, died yesterday morning at the residence of J. J. McLain, 2221 Dodge street, at the age of 37.
 Her life was one serene, sweet exposition of perfect womanhood. Two years ago she was bereaved of husband, but rallying to the needs of a little family of four, she bravely assumed for one year the duties of volunteer kindergarten teacher, with the assured hope that permanent and income would be the result and she was not disappointed, as she was at once elected to a teachership that assured a comfortable life for herself and children. After a few months work her health gave way, and she went to Colorado Springs, hoping to regain strength, but it was in vain and a short time ago she returned home to die.
 Her death was peaceful, her life full of light and moral courage, and she leaves behind her a memory to cheer all who suffer, but who trust in the ultimate good.—Omaha Bee, Jan. 24.
 Mrs. McLain lived in Kalispell for a number of months in 1892, when her husband had charge of the construction of the waterworks here. Her pleasant disposition and gentle manner made her many friends in Kalispell, who will be grieved to learn of her death.
