Aenaes, Kootenai Chief, Passes Away.

ILL SEVERAL WEEKS

Is Succeeded by His Son Gusta—Bearing of the Chief's Death on the Opening of the Reservation.

Chief Aenaes of the Kootenai Indian tribe located on Dayton creek, northern part of Flathead Indian reservation, died Sunday morning after an illness of several weeks' duration. He was at the time of his death over 75 years of age and had been chief of his tribe for more than thirty years. He was a man of considerable intelligence and ability and ruled with a firm yet kind spirit and was beloved by his entire tribe. The chief was buried Tuesday at Dayton.

On Wednesday his son, Gusta Aenaes, aged 34 years, was elected as his successor. In all their dealings with Chief Aenaes the government found a man who was constantly on the watch for the safety and welfare of his people and who for years stubbornly resisted any offer to cede a portion of Flathead reservation to the government. His son, his successor, is a man of considerable education and very bright. How he will stand upon the proposition to throw open that part of the Flathead reservation that lies in this county is not known. The commission, composed of Messrs. McNeely, H. J. McIntire and Hoyt, will this summer have a conference with the tribe relative to the throwing open of a part of their reservation, and their progress will be watched with considerable interest.

A GUESOME FIND.

The Body of Gus Anderson Found in a Cabin.

Sunday a telegram was received by Sheriff Hubbart and Coroner McMahon summoning them to Columbia Falls and containing the information that the dead body of a man had been found under circumstances justifying an investigation.

From what can be learned it appears that Gus Anderson, a trapper and hunter, aged about 50, had been living in a cabin some four miles north of Columbia Falls. Sunday some persons passing the cabin looked in at the door and saw the body of a man lying on a cot, and they immediately proceeded to summon the authorities.

Investigation proved that Anderson had been dead for several days and that he committed suicide by shooting himself with a 44 calibre pistol.

Anderson had been living alone in the cabin and made frequent trips to the mountains on hunting and trapping excursions from which he made a living. Anderson had lived around Columbia Falls several years, but little is known of his family affairs. He was last seen at the Falls some ten days ago, at which time he seemed in his usual health. Nothing of a character to even warrant the suspicion of foul play was discovered and the remains were given temporary burial Monday, on his ranch, by request of his friends, until his relatives in Canada can be heard from.

Death of Mrs. Beebe.
 Mrs. Laura A. Beebe, wife of J. Beebe, died Saturday morning of typhoid fever, aged 36 years. She was born in Crawford county, Wisconsin, and had resided in Kalispell for several years. Her taking off is extremely sad, as it leaves four small children—two girls and two boys—without a mother's care. Her funeral took place from the M. E. church Sunday afternoon, and notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, was largely attended. The sermon was very impressive and when Rev. Craven referred to the struggles and hardships endured by the deceased since leaving her childhood home and coming west there was not a dry eye in the house. The casket was profusely covered with flowers and the hand of fellowship was extended to the bereaved husband and family by many who were strangers to them, thus illustrating the truism that brotherly love predominates in the breast of the human family and that one and all sorrow for the grief and bereavements of a fellow citizen.
 The remains were interred in Demersville cemetery, followed thither by a large cortege.

JOHN BLOOR DEAD.
 Once a Resident of Kalispell and Columbia Falls.
 A Butte dispatch says that John Bloor, an attorney well known throughout Montana, died at his home in Walkerville Thursday.
 Bloor was for some years a resident of this county and will be remembered as the man who, while chief clerk of the senate of the session of 1897, was charged with secreting and preventing the passage of the salary bill, for which offense he was tried, convicted and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.
 The bill in question was lost on its way from the senate, which had passed it, back to the house. Afterward the document was produced by Bloor, who attempted to deliver it to David Marks, chief clerk of the house.
 Bloor was charged with having secreted the bill, was arrested and tried in the district court of Lewis and Clarke county, the trial resulting in a conviction. After a long delay the supreme court affirmed the verdict and Bloor went to the penitentiary.
 When he had served nearly a year he was pardoned by Governor Smith at the instance of influential politicians of Silver Bow county.
 Bloor was attorney for the Montana Liquor Dealers' association.

JOHN BLOOR'S FUNERAL.
Temporary Resting Place in a Butte Cemetery.
 Butte, Dec. 3.—On Sunday, the body of John Bloor, formerly of Flathead county was laid at rest in a vault at Mount Moriah cemetery, there to remain until arrangements can be made to ship the body to his old home in Shropshire, England. The funeral was largely attended, and was under the auspices jointly of the Maccabees, Woodmen and Liquor Dealers. The floral tributes were magnificent. Mrs. Bloor was unable to attend the funeral being completely prostrated with grief.

Another Murder.
 Special to the Bee.
 Great Falls, June 25.—Fergus county was the scene of another murder yesterday morning and today Charles Brown lies dead in the county hospital at Lewistown, with a Winchester bullet through his body and John Gowan, the self confessed murderer is confined in the Lewistown jail. Both men were sheep shearers and were employed on Oscar Stephens' ranch on the Flatwillow about 20 miles from Lewistown. The trouble between the two men began several weeks ago, when Brown loaned Gowan some money, and on several occasions since he has demanded its return. Yesterday, while at the noonday meal, Brown was talking with another man and his conversation was objected to by Gowan. Angry words passed, Brown telling Gowan to keep to himself in the future. About an hour afterward Brown was walking toward the shearing sheds when Gowan, seeing him coming, ran to a near by tent and secured a Winchester rifle. Brown, who was some distance away, started running toward the sheds, when Gowan took aim and deliberately fired at the fleeing man. The wounded man fell and Gowan, still keeping the Winchester, went to the stable and saddling his horse, mounted and rode to Lewistown where he gave himself up to the authorities. Brown was brought to Lewistown at once and placed in the hospital but nothing could be done for him as the wound was a fatal one and he died last night. Gowan offered no excuse for the deed except that he was afraid Brown would kill him.

FUND TO BURY CARROLL
 Raised by His Fellow Workmen—Cannot Locate His Family.
 Coroner McMahon has not been able to locate the family of P. F. Carroll, who was murdered last Tuesday night at Big Fork, by James J. Patton. Telegrams were sent to a number of cities in which there was thought to be a chance of information being secured, which would lead to the discovery of the murdered man's family, but there has been no answer received to any of the messages.
 Friday the coroner visited the scene of the murder, hoping to secure information which would assist in locating friends of Carrolls, but was unable to secure anything new.
 The men working on the power plant at the Fair & Porter camps, raised a fund to be used in purchasing a lot at the cemetery, and defraying the funeral expenses. Every man as well as the contractors, subscribed to the fund for the burial of "Pat" Carroll, who is described as having been the life of the camp. One of the men at work at Big Fork, in speaking of him said: "He was always full of humor and ready to play a joke on some one, he drank some, but was a quick witted Irishman, who was liked by every one of the men who had known him any length of time."
 P. F. Carroll is described as follows: Sandy complexion, sandy hair and mustache of the same color, and about five feet nine inches high, weight 175 pounds, nose slightly hooked.

Carter

Engineer

DOWN FIFTY FEET.

Plunged a Great Northern Engine Killing One, Injuring Two.

A light engine running as second No. 4 on the Great Northern, which left Spokane Saturday morning, was wrecked at 2:30 o'clock p. m., the same day, a few miles east of Newport. There were at first reports that three lives had been lost, but later advices put the number at one, with two injured.

The engine was the first of five, which were being sent east for service on the Kalispell division and was following closely after the east bound passenger train.

A short distance east of Newport there is a sharp curve and an exceedingly heavy fill, with the Pend d' Oreille river 50 feet below at this point, the engine jumped the track, which it followed about one hundred feet, when it took a plunge toward the river and down the embankment. The engine and tender broke apart and now lie near the river at least 75 feet from each other.

The engine was in charge of Engineer G. C. Carter and Fireman James Lynch, who were being piloted over the run by Conductor Charles Buffington and it is a mystery how any of them escaped instant death, as every indication points to the fact that they must have been traveling at a high rate of speed when the engine jumped the track. Engineer Carter was crushed beneath the engine and frightfully scalded by steam and water, his skull was fractured and his body badly crushed. He was taken to the Sacred Heart hospital in Spokane, where he died early Sunday morning.

Fireman James Lynch, was badly injured. He went down with the engine and was found unconscious under the cab, his condition is considered serious, although he is reported as resting easy in the hospital at Spokane. Conductor Buffington, who was on the cab of 728 was the most fortunate of the three, escaping with a few bruises and a general shaking up. The engine left the track without a moment's warning, the tender jumping first and pulling the engine after it.

Conductor Buffington is a resident of this city, and the other two are well known here having run out of Kalispell at different times.

MRS. CORAM DEAD.

A Well Known Kalispell Lady Succumbs to Blood Poisoning.

Mrs. J. A. Coram died this morning at 8 o'clock from the effects of blood poisoning. She had been ill for a number of weeks and was thought, at one time to be recovering. The poison, however, had entered her entire system and consequently weakened her to such an extent that the fight could not be continued. The time of the funeral has not been decided.

The funeral of Mrs. James A. Coram, occurred from the Methodist church, this morning at 5 o'clock and was largely attended. The interment was in Demersville cemetery. Mrs. Coram had a wide circle of friends in this city and news of her death came as a great surprise.

Critze

Ed

11 Sep 1900 p3

Ed Critze, who was sent to the Warm Springs asylum for the insane from this city three years last March, died in that institution Sunday evening. Mr. Critze was among the first settlers in Kalispell and was 40 years of age at the time of his death. His widow resides in Spokane and it is probable that she will consent to have the body buried at Warm Springs. The deceased was an Odd Fellow and the Kalispell lodge has taken the matter of his interment in hand.

Cruse son of George G 10 Jul 1900 p4

The nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Cruse of Chicago, who has been visiting his uncle, A. W. Merfield of Pleasant Valley, had been complaining for several days that he felt tired and sleepy. On Saturday afternoon he made the same complaint and lay down to take a sleep, and passed away before any one knew he was in danger. He died without pain of any kind. His parents and sisters arrived Sunday night and left Monday night for their home with the remains. This is a very sad case, and the bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

Great Falls, Dec. 4.—Louis Edwards, bartender at the Milwaukee Beer Hall, was found dead in his bed Sunday at 5 o'clock. The howling of a dog attracted the attention of people to the room. On the door of the room was tacked a notice reading: "Gone to Helena, will be back Thursday." This notice was signed with the initials of Edwards, but was in the handwriting of his wife. Inquiry at the depot developed the fact that Mrs. Edwards had not gone to Helena, but had taken a train for St. Paul, early Sunday morning. The police along the line of the Great Northern were notified to be on the watch for the woman. The body of Edwards was beginning to decompose when found and evidently had been dead for some time. Edwards and his wife had been married a number of years, and so far as known there has been no domestic trouble, and if a crime has been committed no motive is known for it. Mrs. Edwards was apprehended today by officers at Minot, N. D. She refused to return without requisition papers.

England

Died of Typhoid.
 A. W. England, a stranger in Kalispell, died Tuesday evening at the hospital of typhoid fever. The coroner took charge of the remains and telegraphed to a sister who lives in Wilmer, Minn., and also to Minneapolis Council No. 151, Royal League of Minneapolis, of which order he was a member, as to what disposition should be made of the body. Wednesday a reply was received from England's father to prepare the body and have it shipped east. Accordingly Undertaker McMahon embalmed the corpse, encasing it in a medicated rubber blanket and then enclosing it in an hermetically sealed casket. The remains will be shipped this evening to Wilmer, Minn., where the interment ceremonies will take place. The deceased was about 35 years of age and had only been in Kalispell a few days when attacked by the sickness which ended in his death.

21 Aug 1900 p3

Owing to the non-delivery of telegrams at Wilmer, Minn., the shipment of the body of the late A. W. England was not shipped until last Saturday night.

Sudden Death.
 A. M. Esler, the well known mining man in charge of the operations at Atlyn, on the ceded strip, died very suddenly Monday afternoon. The body, accompanied by Mrs. Esler and daughter, was taken to Blackfoot and shipped from there to Helena.
 Mr. Esler had a bond on the mining property he was developing and had just finished the construction of a concentrator. It is not expected that his death will interfere seriously with the mining operations.
 The deceased gentleman was widely known and respected throughout the entire northwest. He was 65 years of age.

Archie Ferguson Dead.
 After a serious illness of less than a week, Archie Ferguson, who has been a resident of this city almost three years, died at 8:45 last night.
 His friends have noticed that his mind, at times during the past month, seemed to have been affected. He has not been receiving medical attention until recently.
 Yesterday morning he was reported improving, but early in the evening there was a decided change in his condition and notwithstanding the fact that his physicians did everything possible, he died unconscious to the last.
 He had been in the employ of the Stockholm Concert company recently.

KILLED BY A RUNAWAY,
John H. Foy's Dead Body Found This Morning Near the Railroad Track.
 John H. Foy, one of the oldest pioneers of Flathead valley, was killed last night near the railroad track. He had started for his home near Foy's lake at 7 o'clock Monday night, and was found near the wagon road.
 The buggy in which he had left town was found demolished near the point where Mr. Foy's body was discovered at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.
 How he met his death is a matter of supposition, but from the surroundings, and the position and condition of the body, it is thought that his horses became frightened at a passing train and dashed him against a pile of ties.
 Mr. Foy was one of the early settlers in Flathead valley, and built the first saw mill in this section of the state. Settling in the valley 18 years ago he died at the age of 65 years.
 He leaves a family of two sons and two daughters, Mrs. A. W. Swaney, Mrs. Lew Schaffer, John H. Foy and Lester Foy.

10 Nov 1900 p3

The funeral of John H. Foy will take place from the residence of Lew Schaffer, Monday at 2 o'clock p. m.

13 Nov 1900 p3

The funeral of John M. Foy who was killed last Wednesday morning, occurred yesterday. The funeral was from the residence of Lou Schaffer and interment was in the Demersville cemetery. The funeral was one of the largest seen in the county.

Thrown and Killed.
 Friday evening Robert Gilkey, eight years of age, was thrown from a horse and so frightfully injured that he died a few hours later. He was riding without the knowledge of his parents, and it is supposed that while in the rear of the Great Northern roundhouse the horse became frightened and dashed him to the ground. When examined it was found that one arm had been broken and his skull crushed.

Gilligan

Elizabeth

28 Aug 1900 p3

Another Pioneer Gone.
 Sunday evening Mrs. Elizabeth Gilligan died at her home in Kalispell, after a lingering illness, of cancer of the stomach. For several weeks all hope of her recovery had been given up and for the past week the deceased had been hovering on the border of the great beyond. She was a very estimable lady and one among the first white settlers in this county. She leaves two children and a husband to mourn her death. Mrs. Gilligan was 50 years of age. The funeral transpired from the Catholic church this morning, Father Gallagher officiating. The deceased was a woman respected by all who knew her and her many generousities and acts of kindness while living will be sacred monuments in the memory of those who survive her. The Bee extends, in common with the community, sincere sympathy to the bereaved family in their hour of grief.
 The A. O. U. W. and M. W. of A. lodges turned out and escorted the remains to their last resting place, and many people came in from the country to pay the last tribute to their departed friend.

A GOOD INDIAN.

Run Down By a Great Northern Train and Dies From His Injuries.

Persons desiring a good Indian, who will not drink fire water or wood alcohol, who won't steal, who does not gamble, who will stay at home at night, and be quiet, can get information of such an Indian by calling in person or addressing the coroner of Flathead county.

Thursday afternoon Robert Hunt, an Indian, was run down by a construction train on the Great Northern and was brought to this city Friday night and died, from his injuries, at the station Saturday morning. It being known that Coroner McMahon had every confidence in the railway company, he was notified of the Indian's death and at once removed the corpse to his office. The coroner not only had full confidence in the railway company but also had considerable confidence in the county commissioners and as a consequence feels that his confidence was misplaced, owing to the following letter which he has received from the county commissioners in answer to his request for instructions as to the disposition of "One Good Indian."

"Relating to the case of the dead Indian. This county in no way recognizes it as a Flathead county charge and will stand no expense in the disposition of the body."

The coroner gasped for breath upon receipt of the communication, but being full of resources, at once telegraphed the coroner of Teton county, who replied: "Inform Indian agent at Browning, this county has nothing to do with it." In other words Coroner Schmitz, of Teton county, decidedly said "nit." Acting on this advice, the Indian agent was notified, who replied: "No such person as Robert Hunt attached to this reservation. I saw him when hurt and he does not belong here."

The case has now become so badly tangled that Coroner McMahon does not know where he is going to get off. The railroad company refuses to pay a cent and claim not to have lost an Indian. However, the coroner intends to try and compel them to do something—any old thing—but if he fails to get rid of the body before there is a thaw he may decide to embalm it and turn it over as a part of his official records to his successor in office.

Colonel Jones, an inmate of the Soldiers' home, died Wednesday evening and was buried Thursday afternoon.

The will of the late James J. Kimmerly was admitted to probate Wednesday. The estate, which is estimated at $9000, including $5000 life insurance, was left to Mrs. Mary Kimmerly, his wife, to the exclusion of two daughters, Mary and Alice. Mr. Kimmerly died August 21.

Died at the Hospital.

Wednesday morning W. W. Knapton died at the Kalispell hospital from a complication of heart troubles. He was aged 26 years and a native of Alexandria, Minn. He was a member of the Maccabees in his home town and the members of the order in this city took charge of the remains. Messrs. Hubbard & Smith telegraphed to his sister, and also to the Alexandria lodge for instructions. The reply came yesterday to have the body shipped east. Undertaker Potter embalmed the corpse, which will be shipped to Alexandria this evening. The young man was a comparative stranger in this city, but he was not allowed to want for every comfort during his illness, as the Maccabee lodge took his case in charge.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

August Lerch Killed By a Companion.

NO ONE TO BLAME.

Three Companions While Hunting Meet With Misfortune—Burial of the Dead Boy, Sunday.

A fatal accident occurred on the east side of the river near Columbia Falls Friday evening. Three lads, August Lerch, Eddie Turn and Young Cheney, were hunting near a pond south of Turn's house. About 5 p. m. Turn shot a duck and Cheney went out in the pond for it. The boys were sitting on a log after getting the duck and Turn had his gun across his knee with the muzzle pointing toward Lerch, who leaned over against him and in some manner turned the gun, causing it to be discharged, the entire discharge entering Lerch's body. Lerch lived about fourteen hours. He as well as Turn stated that there was no one to blame.

Lerch was conscious all night and insisted upon Turn being by his bedside, not permitting him out of his sight. The boy is almost wild with grief over the accident and it was most heartrending to hear the dying boy trying to console his friend.

The cause of the accident, it is claimed, was in the gun. The hammer is very hard to lower and often caught at a little less than half-cock. The turning of the gun when Lerch leaned against it jarred it in such a manner as to discharge it.

The funeral was held at the Catholic church Sunday afternoon, Father Gallagher officiating.

The deceased came to this country with his father and brother some years ago, making their home with his uncle, Mr. Firestein. He was a good, industrious boy and his untimely death has cast a gloom over his many young associates. The entire community sympathizes with the family in their sudden and sad bereavement.

27 Nov 1900 p3

Funeral of Karl Lindlahr.
The funeral of Karl Lindlahr, who died last Thursday was held Sunday, and was largely attended. The local K. of P lodge, of which deceased was a member, attended the funeral obsequies in a body. The cortege formed at the residence on Fifth avenue, west, and proceeded thence to the Catholic church, where the services were held. A quartette, comprised of Mrs. Broderick, soprano, Mrs. Norquist, contralto, Mr. Dunaire, tenor, and Mr. George Phillips bass, sang, "Lead Kindly Light," at the beginning, and "In Hour of Trial," at the close of the services, at which Father Gallagher officiated.
At the conclusion of the church ceremonies, the funeral procession re-formed and proceeded to the local cemetery where interment was had. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Kalispell, and attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his neighbors and fellow citizens.

Steere	Susie E	4 Sep 1900 p3	Died at Taylor Falls. Saturday the information reached this city of the death of Mrs. Susie E. Steere at Taylor Falls, Minn. Mrs. Steere's death was not unexpected. She had been a sufferer for several years and a few months ago went to Minnesota and underwent a surgical operation in St. Paul and from there was removed to Taylor Falls. She never rallied after the operation and from the first no hope was held out by her physicians. Professor and Mrs. Steere came to Kalispell two years ago this month, the professor taking charge of the city schools. The deceased lady leaves two children, a boy and girl, a husband and a host of friends to mourn her death. Mrs. Steere was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star and a communicant of the Presbyterian church of this city. Professor Steere is expected to arrive in this city the coming week. His many friends extend to himself and children sincere condolences in their hour of affliction.

Wilson	Edgar	Oct 31 1900 p3	FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE G. N. Edward Willson Dashed From West Bound Train—Dies From Injuries. Edward Willson, a porter on the Great Northern railroad was picked up near the coal chute at Atlanta, about fifty miles west of this point, by Conductor J. C. Kink, at four o'clock yesterday morning. He was frightfully injured, both arms and one leg having been passed over by the train upon which he was employed. Willson who resides in this city had gone out on his regular run last night on number three and the manner in which he met with the accident is a mystery, in fact the train crew with him must have had no knowledge of the accident as he was not missed until the train had gone many miles west of the point where he was found. He was taken into Libby where everything possible was done to relieve his pain. There was no hope of his recovery and he died at 10.30 yesterday morning. Edgar Willson has a brother living in Spokane and a sister who resides at some point in Colorado. The body will probably be taken to Spokane for burial.	Nov 3 1900 p3	The body of Edgar Willson, who died from injuries sustained near Atlanta has been taken to Seattle for interment. A brother of the dead man resides in that city.
