BELLMORE'S BODY FOUND

He Was Drowned at the Upper End of Whitefish Lake Last January.

Word was brought into Whitefish yesterday about noon that the body of Joe Bellmore had been found at the head of Whitefish lake, somewhere between Swift creek and Lazy creek.

The body was found floating in the lake by Patrick McCarty and Robert Sweet, who had been staying at the Bellmore cabin and searching for the missing man.

The coroner was at once notified, as were also others who knew Bellmore. Pending the arrival of the coroner the body was left in the water, after being anchored.

Bellmore disappeared from his ranch at the upper end of Whitefish lake about January 12 of this year, but was not missed for several days, as he lived alone upon his place and had no neighbors within a mile. It was generally supposed that he had broken through the ice and had been drowned, although several other theories for his disappearance were advanced, some of them seeming quite plausible.—Whitefish Pilot.

 suffered from 11 o'clock Monday eve-

 waiting for you with outstretched hands.

She is not dead, she could not die,
 But sweetly fell asleep;

LONELY DEATH

George W. Bowman Is Found Dead
in His Cabin on the West Shore of Lake.

The authorities were notified Tuesday that George W. Bowman had been found dead at his ranch on the lake shore, where he has lived alone for a number of years. Coroner Sherman went down to the place and found that the man had died in bed from natural causes, and formed an opinion that death occurred Saturday night. Everything about the cabin was in good order, showing the occupant had prepared to build his fire and make breakfast, but he never woke up.

Bowman had a 20-acre farm between Whiggs' and Coram's place on west shore of the lake. The place was well cultivated and there is a nice orchard. He was about 55 years of age and had never had any of his relatives here, although it is believed he has brothers or sisters in Butte. An attempt was made to reach P. M. Morgan by wire, to find out about the man, with whom it was said he was well acquainted, but Mr. Morgan had gone to Honolulu.

Public Administrator Hugh Swain is in charge of the effects and will exert himself to find the heirs of the deceased.

WAS POUNDED TO DEATH BY FORD

One of the Men He Attempted to Shoot, Who Grabs Rifle From His Hands, Chokes Him and Kicks Him into the Beyond—Ford Surrenders to Authorities.

Landon T. Carter, better known as Landon Carter, was choked and kicked to death by Jim Young's ranch near Fairview last night. A man named Ford, an enemy of the dead man's wife, also was in jail having come in and been committed to the sheriff.

Carter was in KallsPELL yesterday and got pretty drunk before leaving his home. While here he made threats against Ford and Young and gave it out that he would kill them on sight, and then kill himself. He was pleaded with by KallsPELL friends to do nothing, but he was in a desperate mood. Carter reached Milt Small's place about 2 o'clock last night, and took with him a rifle, expressing his intention to go to Young's place and kill his enemies that night.

When he got to Young's place, about two miles east of Small's, he went to open the gate marking the way to the Young cabin, and the gate fell with a clatter which alarmed the inmates of the house, Young and Ford. They had been bothered with noise during the day and had patched the gate to keep stock out, which caused for the noise made by Carter's entrance, and probably saved them from being shot by Carter through the windows of the house.

As they came out, one carrying a gun, they dimly discovered a man with a rifle standing at the gate. Ford thought it was his boy Jack, who had been out hunting, and called some words out to him. Knowing his rifle was up with his rifle and fired point blank at the unsuspecting man, but was probably too drunk to aim. Young and Ford were six or seven feet apart, and immediately the gun was fired they rushed forward and grappled Carter before he could throw another shell into the air and fire again. Being a much smaller man than Ford Carter did not show when the gun was taken from him. Ford choked him down, and kicked him to death, while Young, by his own admission stood calmly by and made no attempt to interfere.

Bert Rice, coroner and undertaker, arrived at an early hour this morning of the tragedy, a hasty expedition was made to Young's place which is about nine miles from the city. Coroner Rice, Under Sheriff Williams, H. I. Minich and several others from town went out there. It is said the corpse was almost unrecognizable, having been literally kicked and beaten into a pulp.

neighbors of the parties involved, there has been a mortal feud between Landon Carter and his brother-in-law Jim Young and wife's uncle, Ford, covering a considerable period. A short time ago the Carter's had agreed to a separation but only last week Mrs. Carter was taken suddenly sick and died at a neighbor's house, Pennoyer's. It is understood a reconciliation took place between husband and wife when she was on her death bed.

Carter was credited with having made frequent threats against the life of Ford and relatives whom he accused of breaking up his home. Some time previous to the death of his wife he hunted Ford and Young with a rifle and was only prevented from murdering both by the interference of a neighbor. Since Mrs. Carter died he had been quieter but morose and moody. Two or three days ago he promised a KallsPELL friend that he would keep out of trouble if possible, but declared even then that he would never rest satisfied until he had killed Ford.

The neighborhood was divided, as is usual, upon the family troubles, the true inwardness of which will probably be aired at the inquest tomorrow.

The remains were first viewed by the coroner, then taken care of by the undertaker's assistant, H. I. Minich, brought that which had been a great help to Sherman's undertaking establishment. The inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral of the victim will take place Friday and he will be buried in his late wife's grave.

Landon T. Carter was 36 years of age and a Demersville pioneer, having lived in that valley for upwards of 15 years. The man who did the killing was an Englishman and has been in the valley only a short time. He was married to Young and Mrs. Carter and had been living with his relatives since he arrived in the valley. As much as can be gathered from

Mrs. London Carter, aged 46 years, died yesterday at Pennoyer's ranch on the east side near Fairview, after a very brief illness. The funeral took place this afternoon. Mrs. Carter has lived in the valley 16 years. She leaves a husband and brother, James Young, who also lives near Fairview.

DIED OF FEVER.

Being taken to the jail he grew so much worse that he was sent to the hospital, recorded as a typhoid patient. Monday the man died and it is presumed his original hallucinations were really caused by delirium of fever. His name was ascertained to be Fred Clayton. He came here from Doaners Ferry, but his home town was Snohomish, Wash. He was a member in good standing of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Kallapell Eagles will take charge of the funeral and pay the dead man the respect to which his order entitled him.

CHILD DROWNED IN ASHLEY
Little Sylvian Deere, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Deere, was drowned in Ashley creek this morning.
The Deeres reside on the west side of town and the little fellow was playing out in the yard. It was the habit and custom of the mother to look out of the window every little while and not five minutes had elapsed since looking out when she discovered that the little lad had disappeared. A search was at once begun and the distracted father was joined by several neighbors. His little footprints were soon found in the mud and snow and they led directly to Ashley creek. Strangers in KallsPELL saw the child following two dogs.
A careful search along the creek showed that the little fellow had fallen through the ice and had crawled out again. There were evidences of the water on the ice that had dripped from his dress. A short distance from there his little body was found cold and stiff in the last long sleep. He was tentily carried to his home and physicians summoned, but nothing could be done to revive him.
He was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Deere and a grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. H. Stark who are well known residents of Flathead.
Arrangements have not yet been made for the funeral.

A Son of Montana.
John Elliott, who died in this city last Tuesday, was a native Montanan and was born at Saleville, near Bozeman, Nov. 8, 1876. He had been in the Flathead about 14 years, coming here with several other members of the family. His father, John A. Elliott, and sister, Mrs. Wm. Lang, reside in Spokane. There are other relatives among the Gordon Sales family on Thompson river.

SUDDEN DEATH OF COMRADE EMERY

The mortal remains of Eltoa A. Emery, the well known G. A. R. man, were brought in from Trueman creek Wednesday, by Undertaker Sherman's assistant and placed in the morgue. Mr. Emery, who was hale old fellow near 70 years of age, was in Kalspell Friday, enjoying unusual good health, and had just completed arrangements to make his home for another year at the Conrad place on Trueman creek. It was a great shock to his friends to hear of his sudden death. He was an old timer in Montana and a civil war veteran and had many friends in the Plattehead valley. A brother of his, now engaged in the stock business in Wyoming, was for several years director in charge of the government experiment station at Bozeman.

Mr. Emery went to his home on Friday night, the last time he was in the city alive. One of the neighbor boys called on him Saturday and he was then feeling unwell, complaining of a pain in his side. The next day, a brother of the boy went around to his shack; after repeatedly knocking, forced his way in and found lying in an easy position on his bed, fully dressed and dead. At his feet lay his faithful dog, unsuspecting that his master had answered the final summons. From the position of the body and the placid countenance, it is highly probable that the old soldier drifted from peaceful slumber to the infinite rest of the grave.

The funeral will take place from Sherman's undertaking parlors at 2 p. m. Thursday, December 26. All members of Lyons Post, G. A. R., of which Comrade Emery was an honored member, and all other G. A. R. men in the city, are requested to meet and pay their last respects to the departed friend and comrade.

DYING MAN FOUND BY R. R. NEAR COLUMBIA FALLS

Discovered by Some Hunters Who Hear Groans From a Thicket---They Get Help From Town But Unknown Man Dies Shortly.

Joe Gillespie and Ed Turner, men of Columbia Falls who had been on a hunting expedition east of the town, were returning, walking on the railroad track, Friday evening, when about a mile from town they heard groaning in a clump of brush, which they thought was the angry growl of a mountain lion or bear. Further investigation convinced them that it was a man, and they posted for town to get a lantern, an officer and a conveyance.

Deputy Ford went with the men and after some difficulty they got the body of the dying man from the densest under growth brush into which he had crawled for protection from the snow and cold. He was but faintly breathing and had the pallor of the dead when picked up. He was taken to town and a doctor called, but within the hour the man died. Death probably resulted from uranic poison but there was no inquest held, Coroner Sherman considering that to be unnecessary.

When Mr. Sherman reached there Saturday morning his investigations left no ground for suspicion of foul play. This man was identified as Alf Field, a stranger, who lodged at Shander's the night before, but who set down his name without an address. He was apparently 35 years old, wore a Gordon hat, purchased from Merrill's store, and wore pretty good clothing, none of the coarser grades. His keys were on a steel tag issued by a Big Timber, Mont., Jeweler. He had a small amount of silver in a Conrad bank gift pocket book.

The dead man has not been identified so far, although he has been looked at by many; the body being in the morgue at Sherman's undertaking establishment. He had probably been seized by these mental pains

He had been in the hospital only a few hours when he succumbed to the disease with which he had been afflicted a long time. Claimed by Death.
After a lingering illness, during which she suffered patiently, Mrs. Marie Johnson Frederick, the wife of Oliver Frederick, a well known resident of this city, passed into the great beyond Tuesday evening.
Mrs. Frederick was nearly 25 years of age and had lived in Kallspell several years and had many friends who will be shocked to learn of her untimely demise, although they knew of her illness. Besides her husband, her mother was with her when the death angel came, and she was conscious until the last.
The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Frederick residence, 327 Fourth street west. Interment was at the C. E. Conrad Memorial cemetery.

Galloway R H 12 Feb 1907 p8

Was 70 Years of Age.
Mr. R. H. Galloway died at his home on the west side Monday at the advanced age of 70. He had been afflicted with heart trouble for several years past, which, together with the weakness of old age, finally caused him to succumb to a local malady. Together with his wife and son, R. G. Galloway, he came to Kallspell about a year ago from Fort Scott, Kan., and the family have been residing at L. O'Brien's on Fourth avenue west, from where the funeral took place this afternoon. Rev. Spire of the Presbyterian church officiated and interment was made in Conrad Memorial cemetery.

Gates Charley 8 Feb 1907 p8

CHARLEY GATES A SUICIDE.
Kills Himself on Wednesday at His Home Near Bigfork
 A distressing suicide occurred at the Gates home near the Club House, at Bigfork, Wednesday afternoon. Charley Gates blew his head off with a rifle, almost in the presence of his wife and one or two of the younger children. He had finished his dinner, and with no apparent provocation stepped into an adjoining room, threw cartridges into his rifle and pulled the trigger just as his wife sprang toward him to prevent the criminal act. Mrs. Gates was so close that she was spattered with blood when the gun was discharged. The coroner was sent for and the verdict was in accordance with the above statement. Gates leaves a wife and five children and one unborn, in practically destitute circumstances. He was an old-timer, and the last of the name. His brother, Bob Gates, was killed on Swan river several years ago, supposed to have been murdered. His mother died about a year ago, from injuries received by falling from a wagon. The only property is supposed to be an interest in a claim near Sedan of which the mother was possessed. The suicide's body was laid beside that of his brother and mother in the graveyard near Holt.

Good Hugh G 27 Aug 1907 p3

Hugh G. Good, father of Henry Good, died Sunday, aged 60 years. He is stated as the disease to be accounted. The funeral was this afternoon from the residence in the country. Interment at Conrad Memorial cemetery.

The saddest news ever heard in Kallispell was the announcement by wire yesterday of the death by drowning of two Kallispell boys and a Kallispell girl at Lake Washington, near Seattle. No details were given but the Associated Press sent out the following account of the tragedy:

Seattle, Wash., May 19.—Three young college students, two men and a girl were drowned in a canoeing accident on Lake Washington today. Another young man barely escaped with the assistance of friends who went to his rescue in a sailboat while a squall was raging on the lake.

The two men were J. F. Goshorn son of Robert Goshorn, editor of the Kallispell (Mont.) Interlake, and a junior at Stanford university, and Glen Jaqueth, son of a Kallispell (Mont.) engineer, and a freshman student at the same institution. The girl is Edith Vogt, a junior in the university of Washington.

These three, with Eugene White, another Washington university student, were on the lake in a small canoe when a sudden squall came up and struck them. The canoe filled with water and sank, leaving the occupants struggling in the choppy waves. White almost succeeded in getting the girl to the canoe, when the two other men threw their arms around him and the four sank. White alone coming up. Three students in a small sail boat made a sensational rescue, picking him up while the boat was going at a high rate of speed.

The Stanford students were on their way home, the university having closed for the year, and were visiting at the home of Miss Vogt, who is also from Kallispell. Miss Vogt is prominent in university affairs. In the same storm several other canoes barely escaped capsizing.

So far as known the bodies had not been recovered and it being the reputation of Lake Washington that it never gives up its dead, much time and effort may be expended before the bodies raise.

A. L. Jaqueth and R. M. Goshorn started for Seattle on the train early this morning. There is much sadness in their families, Joe Goshorn being the only son and pride and companion of his father, Glen Jaqueth, the eldest of the Jaqueth family and the one upon whom their hopes had centered. It is stated by home friends that neither of the drowned boys could swim.

Edith Vogt was the daughter of the first county clerk of Flathead county, and her childhood had been spent in Kallispell. A few years ago the family removed to Seattle where they now reside.

Double Funeral.
Just as The Bee is going to press telegraphic advices have been received indicating that the remains of Jo Goshorn and Glen Jaqueth may reach Kallispell in time for the funeral to be held Sunday. It has also been practically agreed that the funerals will be held jointly from the Goshorn residence.

A 6-year-old grandson of Andrew Hansen, living a few miles from town, died Wednesday of what was concluded to be spinal meningitis. He died without an attending physician. Another patient is a cousin living about a mile away who is very sick with the dread complaint.

MAN DROWNED IN STILLWATER

It was reported last week that a man was drowned in the Stillwater which was probably true. Saturday, a week ago, Pete Hanson and his brother-in-law, (name unknown except Gus), left Hanson's place to cross the Stillwater on logs, having business on the other side. When they reached the river Hanson told his brother-in-law to wait there and he would go across, and thus he left his companion. Shortly afterward when Hanson had reached the other side and was some distance from the river he heard some one scream for help; he quickly retraced his footsteps to find his brother-in-law had disappeared. His footprints were plainly visible to the water's edge onto a log. From that time to this nothing can be found of the young man. Searching parties have been all along the river and he has been hunted for in town, some thinking there might be a chance of his being here. He has disappeared as though the earth had opened and swallowed him up.

There seems to be no reason to doubt that the unfortunate man was drowned.

Sheriff O'Connell headed a searching party last week and participated in a runaway accident, his team growing unmanageable on the road and kicking things to pieces.

John E. Hanson, one of the prominent farmers of the lower valley, died last night. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but will probably be under the auspices of the Modern Woodmen of which order the deceased was a member.

The funeral of John E. Hanson took place at 11 o'clock yesterday from the late residence in the lower valley. From there the funeral procession proceeded to the Lutheran church, Fifth avenue west, where more elaborate ceremonies were observed. Interment was had at Conrad Memorial cemetery.

Harrison Mrs W H 26 Jul 1907 p5

Died Suddenly.
 Mrs. W. H. Harrison, a middle aged lady, the wife of the meat cutter at the Kallispell Meat Market, died suddenly Thursday morning. Her remains were taken to her old home in South Dakota by last night's train. Mrs. Harrison has been somewhat of an invalid ever since her arrival here with her husband last winter. A few days ago a young daughter came out to care for her, but she seemed so much better that only last Saturday she was persuaded to go to Ritzville, Wash., to visit a sister. Mrs. Harrison attended to her household duties on Wednesday as usual, but her husband was alarmed at her appearance and wrote the daughter to come back. The older lady died before her daughter could reach here, but she journeyed east with her father on the last sad mission.

Hayes James J 1 Oct 1907 p8

WITH MILITARY HONORS.
 James J. Hayes, a Veteran of the Philippines, is Laid to Rest by Old Comrades of Co. H.
 James J. Hayes was given a military funeral Sunday afternoon at the C. E. Conrad Memorial cemetery. The remains arrived Saturday night and in the casket laid in state at Sherman's Undertaking parlors until transferred to the hearse for the last solemn journey. Many of the veterans, old friends and comrades of deceased availed themselves of the sorrowful privilege of a last look at the well remembered face, which was like and yet not natural as it appeared in the coffin, the death stroke having left it darkened and emaciated. The floral offerings were magnificent and abundant, evidencing the universal liking for the deceased in this community. The funeral was taken charge of by his old comrades of the sword. At the grave Major Swaney, Capt. Hillburn and Lieut. McIndire, who had been his officers in the Philippines, conducted the military ritual, a firing squad gave the last salute and taps sounded as the requiem of the dead. The funeral was quite large, 23 hecks and carriages being in line. Frank Gadow got but little information from the Ogden undertaker. Jimmy was not with friends in Ogden but died of heart disease in a rooming house, being found dead in his bed. The deceased was about 38 years of age. He was among the first lieutenants in Kallispell and was engaged in hotel and saloons business here for several years. He volunteered for service in the Philippines and served there with Co. H, so endearing himself to all his comrades in the Orient that even his later vagrant life failed to estrange them. It is believed that he has a married sister in Salt Lake but nothing of his early life or family is known even by those who knew him longest.

The infant child of C. F. Heglin died last week at the Hoffman house and was buried yesterday, Rev. F. L. Buzzell officiating.

Hendricksen Augusta P 14 May 1907 p5

Very Sudden Death
 After an illness of only 22 hours, Mrs Augusta P. Hendricksen, beloved wife of Harry B. Hendricksen, died in this city Sunday evening in the 25th year of her age. The news of her death was a shock to the many friends of the family in Kallispell and their sympathy goes out to the dazed and heartbroken husband. Mrs. Hendricksen was apparently in perfect health when last seen in public and no hint of the visit of the grim destroyer was conveyed by her appearance.
 She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pederson of Holt, early settlers in the valley and has lived here nearly all her life. Something over two years ago she married Mr. Hendricksen and they have been admired as one of the happiest young couples in the city. Her sister, Mrs. Lillevig lost her husband a few months ago. There is another married sister residing at Somers.
 The funeral took place this afternoon from the Norwegian Lutheran church, interment being made at C. E. Conrad Memorial cemetery. There were many beautiful floral offerings from friends, from the church society, from McIntosh Hardware Co. employees, and from the Woodmen of the World, of which Mr. Hendricksen is a member.

DEAD BODY CAST UNDER A TRAIN

To Destroy Evidence of the Crime—Murder Will Out, and the Trunk and Head Found Showing Unmistakably That Hines Was a Victim of Foul Play

Murder was committed in Whitefish Saturday night. Jim Hines, a section hand from Essex, was found in the railroad yards at Whitefish early Sunday morning, partly lying across the track. A leg had been cut off by moving cars, but the head and trunk bore witness to a deadly assault which had been committed upon him before he was thrown on the track to disarm suspicion. Three ragged holes in his head made by a sharp rock, the rock being found near at hand, indicated the manner of his taking off. There was a gash in the neck, under the eye and in the temple. The weapon was smeared with blood and hair, attesting all too plainly the murderous assault.

The day crew found him and at once notified the authorities.

Hines came to town Saturday. He was a simple minded Irishman and has been doing section work on the cut-off for years past. He was past middle age, partly bald and hair inclined to curl, and was well known throughout that country.

He had two pay checks when he arrived in town, representing two months' work, less the draw down for board and fees. One check of $46.50 he cashed at a hotel bar, leaving $1.85 to treat the house; with the other he paid a bill at Skyles' store, taking the change in cash. He was free handed and something of a drinking man, but probably had $75 on him when he was set upon by thugs, robbed and murdered.

Sheriff O'Connell was notified and with Coroner Sherman and the county attorney, drove up to Whitefish yesterday to hold an inquest. This morning W. T. McKeown, county attorney, went up to Whitefish, accompanied by his official stenographer, Miss Morrison, who will take down the evidence adduced by the coroner's jury at the inquest being held today.

By Associated Press.

Whitefish, Mont., Nov. 3.—What appears to be an atrocious murder was disclosed this morning, when workmen on the railroad repair track discovered the dead body of a man under a freight car in the east end of the Whitefish yards. Two wheels of the car had passed over the man's legs, completely severing them from the body, and it was at first supposed that he had fallen under the cars in some manner and thus met death. A closer investigation, however, disclosed evidence that the man had been foully murdered and then dragged under the standing cars, evidently with the intention of covering up the crime. There was a deep gash on one side of his head, and a sharp stone with blood on it was found near by with which he had probably been struck. There were also several bruises on his head, made by some blunt instrument. On the ground near the adjoining side track there were blood stains and evidences to show that he had been dragged from there to the place where he was found. The heels of his shoes were also scratched as though he had been dragged for some distance. Another evidence of foul play is the fact that there was but small loss of blood from the severed legs, but he had bled copiously from the wounds on his head, and though the latter wounds had been received a considerable time before the wheels of the car had passed over him.

It has been ascertained that the man's name is James Hines, and until recently he had been working with an extra gang at Essex. He undoubtedly had considerable money on his person, as he had cashed two pay checks in town the day previous to his death, and it is not improbable that murder was resorted to to secure this money. Sheriff O'Connell and Coroner Sherman were at once notified at Kalspell and they are here to look into the case. A man who had been with Hines during the day is being held until the matter is investigated, but there is not much evidence at present to connect him with the killing.

The place where the body was found is only a short distance from the red-light district and also close to where a "bobo" camp has been maintained for some time, but as yet there is no particular evidence to connect any of the hangers-on of either of these places with the crime. Officers and others who have gone over the ground where the tragedy occurred are thoroughly convinced that the man was murdered, and a searching investigation will be made.

Masajiro Ito, the Japanese laborer that was killed at Whitefish, Friday, in the railroad yards was 48 years old and it was through his own carelessness and lack of attention that he lost his life, as he had been warned to watch for the train while switching.

Rev. F. H. Buzzell yesterday conducted the funeral of a Japanese laborer who was killed on the railroad near Whitefish last Friday.
