Beck Edward R 27 Aug 1908 p1

Edward R. Beck was found dead lying on a couch in the Silver Dollar saloon this morning. He had gone in to the office last evening and lay down on the couch and went to sleep. The last time it was known that he was alive was about one o'clock this morning, when he was noticed to be breathing heavily. When the bartender changed shift this morning an attempt was made to waken Beck, and it was found that he was dead, and had apparently died several hours before. The body was removed to Sherman's undertaking rooms, and cared for. Death had evidently been caused by heart failure.

Beck came to Kalispell early in 1892 from Missoula, and opened a barber shop here. He has been in Kalispell ever since with the exception of one year when he closed up his shop and went to Philadelphia, where his brother and a number of relatives live. Later he returned and again opened shop. He has been a recluse, working in his shop fitfully, but never making any effort to secure business, always alone, and frequently changing location.

A telegram has been sent to his brother in Philadelphia, and no arrangements for the funeral will be made until he has been heard from.

 Coroner Sherman returned from Ural last night with the body of a man killed last Friday night near that point on the main line by a freight train. It was learned that the man had worked with a gravel gang a few days near Warland and had given the name of James Burns. MERLE COOLEY IS KILLED

Popular Young Kalispell Man
Shot by Mistake at Palo Alto, California.

Kalispell people were incredibly shocked Wednesday by the news that Merle Cooley, son of Mr and Mrs. O. A. Cooley, had been shot by accident and killed, at Palo Alto, California, where he has been attending Stanford University. The brief telegram announcing the fact came from Carlo Christensen, his roommate, but gave no particulars. Instructions were at once sent to Palo Alto to have the body sent to Kalispell for burial.

The press dispatch of the accident is as follows:

Stanford University, Cal., Feb. 6.—W. M. Cooley, of Kalispell, Mont., a junior student, was shot and killed this morning by W. Uhlman, engineer at the university power house. Cooley had been to Menlo park, and when he returned got into Uhlman's house by mistake.

Mrs. Uhlman was awakened and found Cooley groping in the hall. She called her husband, who opened the bedroom door, called twice, and then fired a shot from a 22 caliber rifle at a distance of four feet. The bullet entered Cooley's head over the eye.

Merle graduated from the Flathead county high school in the class of 1903, and the spring autumn went to Stanford to continue his studies. He was a young man of more than ordinary ability and his life promised to be one of honor and usefulness.

The heart of the community goes out in deep sympathy to the stricken parents, who are prostrated by the blow.

A telegram evening from Christensen, states he would start for Kalispell the body at three o'clock today. It is uncertain when it will arrive but probably not before Sunday.

MERLE COOLEY AT REST.

The body of Merle Cooley, whose death occurred in so tragic a manner at Stanford University last week, arrived in Kalispell Sunday night, accompanied by Carlo Christensen.

The funeral occurred Monday afternoon from the family home on Third Avenue west. The services were simple and impressive, the funeral address being given by Rev. F. A. Armstrong, of the Methodist church. The pall bearers were former friends and schoolmates of Merle. A great number of the people of Kalispell were present to pay their last tribute to the memory of the young life so suddenly ended, and express their sympathy with heartbroken parents and stricken family. A long procession followed the body to its resting place in the Conrad Memorial cemetery.

CLARENCE CROMWELL KILLED AT DAYTON

Prominent and Well Known Stock Man Killed Last Night by His Brother-in-law, Frank Masterson.

Word was received this morning of the killing of Clarence Cromwell, at Dayton last night, by Frank Masterson, his brother-in-law. The first news came in a message to the sheriff's office, asking that the sheriff and coroner come to Dayton, and bring a casket with them. The news was brought to Somers by a messenger from Dayton, and sent up from there.

As far as the details of the affair can be learned, Cromwell entered the bedroom of Masterson last night and drew a gun on him. Masterson engaged in a struggle with him, and finally succeeded in getting possession of the gun and struck Cromwell on the head with it, crushing his skull. According to another account, Masterson used his own gun. Cromwell lived only a short time. What led up to the trouble is not known, though the brother-in-law have not been very friendly for some time. Masterson has done a large amount of contract work for Cromwell during the summer, putting up hay and other work connected with his stock business. Men up from the reservation today think there may have been some trouble over their settlement, though nothing certain is known about it.

The funeral of the late Clarence Cromwell will occur tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, services being held at the Presbyterian church. The interment will be in the Conrad Memorial cemetery.

24 Oct 1908 p8

Owing to the fact that some of the relatives of the late Clarence L. Cromwell did not arrive last evening, as expected, the funeral was postponed from this afternoon at two o'clock until tomorrow at the same hour. This evening's train will probably bring the two sisters that were expected last night.

Dewar James 2 Sep 1908 p1 3 Sep 1908 p1

JAMES DEWAR IS DEAD.

James Dewar, a freight brakeman running out of Whitefish, died at the hospital at Whitefish late last night.

The only information in regard to the death was contained in a message to S. H. Mofford from Mrs. Mahala Dewar, the young man's mother, who was summoned to Whitefish by telegram yesterday afternoon.

As nearly as has been learned he was at Essex yesterday morning, and after eating a meal there was taken violently ill. By the time his train reached Whitefish and he received medical aid, it was too late to save his life. He died about eleven o'clock.

It is supposed that death was the result of ptomaine poisoning from some kind of canned meat or vegetable, and an investigation is to be made to determine whether that is the case.

The body will be brought to Kalispell for burial.

The young man, who was about twenty-two, has been a resident of the valley for many years, and lived on the east side of the valley until a few years ago, when he took a position on the road. His mother has been living in Kalispell for several years.

MURDEN FOY IS DEAD.
Murden Foy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Foy, died yesterday morning. A week ago last Thursday he accidentally shot himself in the arm while hunting, the charge tearing up the flesh from the hand to the elbow. The wound was a bad one, but it had been carefully looked after, and no danger was apprehended. At the time of the accident the larger arteries had only narrowly escaped being torn away, and the only danger looked for was the possible breaking of an artery causing a loss of blood. This is what actually happened, and when it occurred the loss of blood was so great that the young man died before the flow could be stopped.
Murden had been in good spirits on Saturday and Saturday night, and had been talking about being brought in to vote on Tuesday. When it was discovered in the morning that he was sinking from loss of blood, every effort to help him was made, without avail.
The funeral occurred this afternoon at two o'clock, from the Presbyterian church.

With two other lads the boy was swimming in the pond, which is a favorite resort for the younger boys. While they were swimming the Fracas lad discovered a bird's nest hanging over the water, and climbed the tree to get it. The limb broke with him and he fell into the pond. He did not come up, and it is thought his head must have struck on something in the bottom of the pond, although no mark was left to show it. Charley Reed, one of the other boys, ran for help, and met the section crew coming up the track. They quickly recovered the body, but too late to revive it.

Coroner Sherman was informed of the accident, and took charge of the body. The funeral occurred this afternoon, the interment being in the Desererville cemetery.

Hill little girl of Willard 15 Jul 1908 p1

Somers, Tuesday July 14.

About six o'clock last evening Somers was visited by a severe wind storm and heavy rain which lasted about two hours and did considerable damage. Several fences were blown away, building overturned and grain cut down, and this morning things had the appearance of being struck by a cyclone. The sea was high and angry. The Flyer managed to get in dock before the big storm. Captain Hill who runs the steamer "Undine," with port at Big Fork was on his way over to Somers to meet the evening train for passengers returning from the city. He was accompanied by his wife and little daughter. In some way or other the boat capsized in the heavy winds and rolling sea and the occupants were hurled in to the water. The little girl was caught when the boat went over and it was impossible to get to her, in her perilous position. Captain Hill managed to save his wife after working for some time and sparing no means for the safety of his family but the little girl was drowned. Capt. Hill and his wife clung to the boat for about three hours when by chance a passing launch rescued them and brought them to Somers about midnight last evening. This morning the company tug "Gastrie" manned by Captain Helen, left the dock with a crew of men to search the waters for the body of the child. The drowning happened over at the mouth of the river. The Somers people extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in the loss of their little daughter.

Yesterday on the West Shore of Lake.

The body of the little daughter of Willard Hill, of Somers, who was drowned here in the mouth of the Flathead two weeks ago today, was found yesterday afternoon on the west shore of the lake, about eight miles from the place where the accident occurred.

The body was found by J. A. Harrington, who was spending the day at his place on the lake, several miles below Angel Point. The body was lying some distance out of the water when discovered. Mr. Harrington covered it sufficiently to protect it, and returning to Somers notified the people there, and also the undertaker when he returned to Kallispell.

The little girl was drowned in the fierce squall which swept the lake on the evening of July 13th, the steamer on which Mr. and Mrs. Hill with the little girl were going from Big Fork to Somers being overturned. Mr. and Mrs. Hill were rescued after clinging to the bottom of the boat for several hours, but the little girl was caught as the boat turned over and was drowned. The search for her body had been carried on ever since the accident.

RICHARD LEMON.
DROWNED IN RIVER

Fell From the Steel Bridge this Morning While Fishing—Body not yet Recovered.

Dick Lemon, a colored man, porter at The Fashion barber shop, was drowned this forenoon while fishing off the steel bridge over the Flathead, three miles east of town. He had got outside the railing, and in losing his fish line, either lost his balance or became dizzy, and fell to the water below, a distance of 18 or 20 feet. A man on the shore, who saw him fall, ran to the nearest place on the bank to assist him if he rose, but he did not come to the surface. A search is being made for the body, but at last reports it had not been recovered. At the present stage the water is swift, and immediately below the bridge there is a large pool of great depth. It is probable the body has been swept into this, and finding it will be only by accident. Lemon was subject to dizzy spells, and it is thought one may have caused him to fall.

He came here in August last from Spokane, though his home was in Davenport, Washington. He worked for a time at the Crescent barber shop as porter, and later at other places, the last one being The Fashion where he has been employed until the present. He was fifty years old, and a widower. It is said he had some property at Davenport.

The body of Dick Lemon, who was drowned at the steel bridge yesterday, has not yet been found. There are a number of reports as to where Lemon was at the time of the accident, but the later information indicates that he fell from the the protecting crib at the east end of the bridge, instead of the bridge itself.

TRAGEDY AT WHITEFISH

Arthur Livingstone Shoots His Wife and Her Mother and Commits Suicide.

Special to Inter Lake.

Whitefish, July 8.—Arthur Livingstone, who had been away for some time, returned to Whitefish yesterday, and during the day visited with his family, consisting of his wife and one child, at the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Robertson Carpenter, who lived near the river in the vicinity of the mill.

About eight p. m. Lakeside residents were startled by hearing five shots fired in rapid succession, and there was a rush to the Carpenter place. On reaching the scene they found the wife of Livingstone bleeding profusely from a gunshot wound in the face. The bullet had gone through both sides of her mouth, breaking the jaw, shattering her teeth, and cutting her tongue.

Mrs. Robertson Carpenter was shot through the right breast, the ball not going through the body. Another shot had taken effect in her arm. Her wounds are considered serious. The two other shots that were fired had evidently gone astray.

After shooting the two women, Livingstone ran to the river, about fifty feet distant, and jumped in, evidently with the intention of drowning himself. The water was only about four feet deep, and a moment later he came out and ran back to the house, reloading his revolver with five cartridges. He then walked deliberately to the county bridge just below the old dam, and stopped on the bridge over the center of the stream. He climbed on the railing, and holding on with his left hand, leaned over the edge of the bridge. With his right hand he placed the muzzle of the revolver to his ear and fired, falling into the water below.

His body sank at once, and did not rise again until it was taken from the water by E. L. Geddes, M. Bonner, and others who had secured boats and pushed out into the stream. The body had drifted down stream fifty yards, and was on the bottom when found. It was recovered within five minutes of the time it went over the bridge.

Many rumors are afloat as to the cause of the shooting, but no certain explanation is obtainable. Livingstone bought a .38 caliber revolver at one of the hardware stores yesterday, and told a partner he was going to Bonners Ferry last night, and might need the revolver. He has a sister, Mrs. Arthur Rouse, living in Whitefish, and his father lives in the vicinity of Helena Falls.

Whitefish, July 8.—The latest report is that Mrs. Carpenter is dying.

Livingstone and his wife lived in Kalispell during the winter and spring, their home being in Duncan addition. Livingstone worked in the logging camps and about the mills most of the time. About three weeks ago his wife left him on account of his drinking, and went to her mother's at Whitefish.

Five years ago he sold his farm ten miles northwest of town, and went to Alberta, near Calgary. Last spring he went to Chicago for treatment for a baffling disease, causing paralysis, and the physicians decided that it was caused by tumors on the brain. An operation for their removal was performed in July, and he improved so much that he was discharged from the hospital, and his recovery was fully expected. With his wife he went to McHenry, where Mrs. Mertens' sister lived, and he was there up to the time of his death. Mr. Mertens was about fifty-five years old.

JACK MILLER IS DEAD.
Jack Miller, a well known resident of the Blackfoot reservation, died at his home near Browning on Monday last, of heart failure. He had not been ill, or at least not enough to create any anxiety. On Monday morning he had been preparing to ride out on the range to look at some of his cattle, and complained of feeling badly. In half an hour he was dead. He was 59 years old, and had spent his life on the reservation. In the earlier days he was a buffalo hunter, but with the disappearance of the herds and the coming of the railroads, he engaged in raising cattle. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Sharp.

Miller was taking him back east to his former home in Indianola, Iowa, to live. The old gentleman's home had recently been in Orient, Washington. Coroner Sherman was notified and went to Summit, where the body was being laid. He gave heart failure and old age as the cause of death, the high altitude also probably contributing. TRAMPLED AND KICKED TO DEATH

Isaac Minear Meets Death in a Tragic Manner—Found Lying Under his Horses' Feet in the Barn.

Isaac Minear, living near Creston, was found dead in a stall in his barn Sunday afternoon by a neighbor, Sol Johnson. Minear lived alone, and there is some uncertainty as to how he met his death. There were two horses in the barn, and the body was found lying beside one of them. The indications are that in getting ready to place harness on the horse he had entered the stall and had been kicked on the leg and knocked down, and that he had then been trampled to death by the excited animal.

When Johnson found the body, Coroner Sherman was notified by telephone, and he and J. E. Rockwood went at once to the farm, bringing the body back yesterday.

It is believed the accident occurred on Saturday. In his cabin were found two letters, one addressed to Mr. Rockwood and the other to a relative in the east. The letter to Mr. Rockwood was dated the 8th, and Minear had informed a neighbor that he had intended coming to town Saturday. He had apparently written the letters Friday night, and was getting ready to come to Kalspell on Saturday.

An autopsy was held this afternoon, and a coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow. There has been some talk of a possibility of foul play, but there has been no development to warrant such a suspicion.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT NORTHWESTERN

Carl Neilson Falls From Tramway and is Instantly Killed.

Carl Neilson, an employe at the Northwestern mill, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by falling from the tramway. He was working on the transfer by which the loaded cars of lumber are shifted on the tram tracks, and had run the transfer car to the extreme end of the track.

An empty lumber car was standing on the transfer car, and Neilson was standing on the block at the end, placed to keep the car from running off. At the end of the transfer track the sides are open beyond the tramways for a distance of eight or ten feet, the supporting trestle being extended that far to permit the transfer to reach the outside tracks. Instead of pushing the car back and stepping on the platform, Neilson undertook to swing around the end, holding to the lumber car. He either lost his balance, or the car was started by its pulling on it, and he fell backwards to the ground, a distance of ten or twelve feet, the lumber car falling on top of him. The lumber car is simply four wheels with a frame work of 6x6 timbers. The car fell upon the upper part of his body crushing in his chest.

The men who saw the accident hurried to him, but he was unconscious and breathed but faintly. He died in a very few minutes. Coroner Sherman was notified and took charge of the remains. An inquest will be held tomorrow forenoon.

Neilson was a single man, twenty-six or twenty-seven years old, and has no relatives here. It is said he has an uncle living in Minnesota, but no definite information has yet been obtained.

Olson Gust 16 nov 1908 p5

Coroner Sherman returned yesterday from Belton, where he was investigating the death of the man found dead on the track. Except that the man's name was Gust Olson nothing definite was learned of him. He had worked on the Milwaukee's construction work at Taft, Montana, until he had saved up about six hundred dollars. From there he went to Spokane and went on a protracted spree, spending all his savings. When he found himself without money he slipped to a construction camp just above Belton, and had an attack of delirium tremens. On the night he was killed he had slipped away when was not watched and walked up the track but was overtaken and brought back to the camp. Later he got away again and walked on the track as a train was passing and was killed.

O'Neil James 26 Oct 1908 p1

KILLED AT WHITEFISH.
James O'Neil was killed in the Whitefish yards last evening by the switch engine. He had been drinking and started to go to the round house to see the foreman, and thought that he would catch a ride on the switch engine, as it was going that way. It was dark and he had no torch. The engine was backing up and he tried to step on the back-board, but missed his footing and fell under the wheels. Several bones were broken and he was injured internally. He was at once removed to the hospital, where he died soon afterward. Coroner Sherman went to Whitefish this morning to investigate the case but held no inquest. The young man was twenty eight years old and gave his address to the railroad officials as Davidson, Canada.

The former home of Mr. and Mrs. Pattison was at Drayton, Ontario, where they were married in October 1887. In 1891 they came to Columbia Falls, and for the past five years have been residents of Kalispell. Peyton

Charles

Charles Peyton, a deputy game warden with headquarters at Ovando, was killed by Indians on upper Swan river yesterday morning. Four Indians also are dead, killed by Peyton, it is supposed. The information came in a telegram from State Game Warden Scott to L. J. Lowndes, deputy game warden here, this morning.

Mr. Lowndes received a letter from Peyton two or three days ago saying that a party of Indians was hunting in the Swan river country, and that he was going in to see what they were doing, and whether they were violating the game laws. It is supposed that they resisted when he tried to compel them to show their licenses, and that a fight ensued. The place where the killing occurred is three miles below the Gordon ranch, or as it is better known, the Holland ranch.

20 Oct 1908 p5

Little additional news has been received of the killing of Charles Peyton, the deputy game warden, by Flathead Indians on Swan river Sunday. According to the account received, Peyton had told the Indians they were under arrest and would have to accompany him to Missoula. Without warning they opened fire on him and Rudolph, his assistant. One of the four Indians killed was Yellow Head. The names of the others have not been learned.

ALLAN PHILLIPS IS DROWNED

Former Kalispell Boy Loses His Life in the Columbia River.

Word was received in Kalispell today of the drowning of Allan Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, formerly of Kalispell, but now of Seattle. Only meager details of the accident have been received here.

A clipping from a Seattle paper states that Allan with a young companion named Ralph Bulkley, also of Seattle, was attempting to cross the Columbia River between Patterson, Washington, and Irigon, Oregon one evening the latter part of last week. When they were in midstream their skiff was overturned, and the boys attempted to swim to the shore, but were carried down by the current. At last accounts the bodies had not been recovered. Allan was 15 years old, and his companion 18.

R. T. Minich received a letter this morning from his brother in Seattle, referring to the accident, but giving no additional particulars. He said there was still some hope, at the time he wrote, that the boys had reached the further shore of the river. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were prostrated by the news.

8 Aug 1908 p6

A telegram received today from Seattle confirms the report of the drowning of Allan Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips. Their friends had hoped the earlier report might turn out to be an error, although there was little chance for it.

13 Aug 1908 p1

THE DEATH OF ALAN PHILLIPS.

The first definite news in regard to the accident in which Alan Phillips, son of George Phillips of Seattle lost his life, was received here this morning in a letter from A. Makin to Jas. Swaney.

It appears that Alan with his chum, the other young man who lost his life, started to sail across the Columbia in a row boat with the owner of the boat. When they were in midstream a squall struck them, and they lost their oars. Without them they were helpless in the current, and were carried down stream for two miles or more, when they passed close to an island. The two boys decided to attempt to swim to the island.

The owner of the boat decided to stay with it, but Alan and the other young man divested themselves of a part of their clothing, and undertook to reach the island. The weather had been very hot, and it is thought the sudden contact with the icy waters caused instant cramps, and made it impossible for them to swim. The owner of the boat was not drowned. The bodies of the boys were recovered sometime later a hundred miles below the point where the accident occurred.

A COLD BLOODED MURDER

James P. Rafferty, Well Known Saloon Man Shot Down Without Warning Last Night.

James P. Rafferty, one of the proprietors of the saloon at the corner of Second street and Second avenue west, was shot and instantly killed last night by Ed Finley, a lumberjack. The shooting occurred about eight o'clock.

Rafferty was standing three or four feet in front of the bar and twelve or fourteen feet from the door, talking with Al Besoit and two or three other men. Several others were sitting and standing about the room. Finley opened the door and placed one foot against it to hold it open. He had a .251 automatic Winchester rifle in his hand, and threw it up, covering the group. He remarked "I've got you now," and fired. The first shot struck Rafferty just above the right breast and passed through his body. He staggered backwards along the bar for seven or eight feet before he fell. Finley in the meantime shooting several times, either three, or four in addition to the first shot. He did not hit Rafferty again, but one of the bullets struck Al Besoit above the knee, inflicting a slight flesh wound. Rafferty died almost instantly.

Finley let the door swing shut when he stopped shooting, and disappeared. It was reported that he met with one near the Valley House, half a block north, remarking, "I got one of them, anyhow," and went on north. He is said to have been seen not far from the Northwestern mill a little later, and is thought to have come back toward town, to the railroad crossing on Fourth Avenue east. From that point all trace of him is lost. The sheriff's office and the police took up the hunt a short time after the murder, and kept it up all night, but without finding a clue. Notices were sent in every direction by wire and telephone, and messengers have been sent to all the lumber camps that could not be reached by phone.

Finley is a large powerful man, six feet two inches in height, of heavy build, and about 35 years old. He was dressed in dark clothes, of the sort usually worn in the camps, and had on a black stouch hat. His clothes were exceptionally dirty.

Finley had been working at one of the camps of the Kallepel Lumber company, near Athens, where his brother is foreman. He came in several days ago, and had been drinking more or less since his arrival. Wednesday he had some difficulty with Ross Moore, of the Grotto, and also a dispute with Rafferty about a bill he owed, which he paid, however, and they had a drink together over the settlement.

A short time before the shooting Finley went into the West Hotel carrying a roll of blankets, which he said he wished to leave there, that he had to go to camp at once, and wanted to take his rifle with him, remarking that he might see some deer. Mr. Mosier helped him unpack his gun, which Finley put together, and took a handful of shells, which he put in his pocket. The roll of blankets was left at the hotel to be called for. It is supposed when he started out with the gun he intended to kill both Rafferty and Ross Moore.

Rafferty, the murdered man, was 48 years old, and formerly lived at Eau Claire, Wisconsin, where he has sisters living. He had no relatives here. He came to this country first in 1880, but returned to Wisconsin a few years later, returning here six or seven years ago. He has been in the saloon business with Joe Ganger for some time. It is said that he and Finley were acquainted with each other in the east, and the acquaintance was renewed when Finley came to the Flathead several years ago.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral as yet, and will not be until his sisters are heard from.

There was a report from J. V. Harrington's ranch east of the river, that Finley had been seen there, and sheriff O'Connell went out after him. He telephoned in at three o'clock that there was nothing to the report.

The body of James Rafferty was sent to relatives in Mondovi, Wisconsin, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Josephine Newgard came up from Daryon yesterday to attend the funeral of her brother, the late George O. Railsback. The funeral occurred this morning at ten o'clock from the Sherman undertaking parlors, with interment at the Demoreville cemetery.

Mrs. Hedges will leave for Asheville tonight.

Frank Derosier and Alfred Richmond, the victims of the train at Troy, were buried at that place yesterday. The men were both young, one being twenty-three, and the other nineteen years old.

Rogers Mary Miller 22 Jun 1908 p1

MRS. MARY MILLER RODGERS.
Mrs. Mary Miller Rogers, wife of Josiah Rogers, died Saturday as she was being brought from their home at Camas Lake, up the North Fork trail, to Columbia Falls. She had been ill for some time with heart trouble, and Mr. Rogers had decided to take her to Columbia Falls, where she could be with her mother, Mrs. J. K. Miller, and receive more care and medical attention. With another man he started with Mrs. Rogers Saturday carrying her on a litter. After they had gone a number of miles, she failed to answer an inquiry, and an examination showed that she had ceased to breathe.
The body was taken to Columbia Falls, and the funeral occurred there yesterday afternoon, from the residence of her parents.
Mrs. Rogers was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Miller, and had been a resident of the county for many years. She taught in the Kallispell schools at one time, and was well known here, and through all the upper part of the county.

JAMES SMITH DROWNED

James C. Smith, the eldest son of B. M. Smith, of Egan precinct, was drowned in Egan slough late Saturday evening.

After assisting in a neighborhood celebration, young Smith, with Gerhard Anderson, a younger boy, went to Egan slough for a swim. When they had been in a short time Smith was seized with cramps, and called to Anderson to bring the boat to him, which he did. He remained in the boat for a time, and appeared to recover, and in a short time went into the water again. He almost immediately called to Anderson to help him, but before the boat could be gotten to him he went down, and could not be reached.

The alarm was given immediately, and the neighbors began to drag the slough, but the body was not recovered until five o'clock Sunday morning. It was found in twenty feet of water.

The funeral will occur from the residence tomorrow forenoon and the interment will be in the Fairview cemetery.

The young man was twenty-one on July first, and has lived in the valley seven or eight years.

MRS. R. F. SOULE.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Soule in Kallispell were shocked at the news of Mrs. Soule's death in Butte yesterday, and the awful tragedy of it. Mrs. Soule was a woman of rare character and most lovable disposition and few persons are there whose friends are more closely attached to them. To the stricken household the sympathy of their Kallispell friends will be given without measure.

THE AWFUL FATE OF MRS. R. F. SOULE

The Accident Occurred at Anaconda, and Not at Butte, as First Reported.

The accident which cost Mrs. Roy Soule her life, and resulted in the dangerous burning of Mr. Soule, occurred at their home in Anaconda, and not in Butte, as it was understood here. It was stated that Mr. Soule had resigned his position at Anaconda about two weeks ago to take a similar one with a hardware company at Butte, but that appears to have been an error. The following account of the accident is a special from the Butte Evening News:—

Anaconda, Aug. 6.—R. F. Soule, manager of the hardware department of the Copper City Commercial company, and his wife were horribly burned in the explosion of a gasoline stove in their home at 7 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Soule's injuries are of such a terrible nature that the physicians say there is no chance for her recovery. Her husband was also burned from head to foot and there is only a bare hope for him. If he survives it is probable that he will lose one hand.

Mrs. Soule arose about 6:45 o'clock this morning and garbed in her nightrobe started to light the gasoline stove. She poured some alcohol into a receptacle under the burner for the purpose of heating it before turning on the gasoline. A moment later she looked at the stove, and believing the flame had gone out, poured more alcohol into the burner from a bottle.

In an instant there was a puff of the burning liquid, accompanied by an explosion, and the unfortunate woman was enveloped with flaming alcohol. Her nightrobe caught fire, and her hair was burning when she began to scream for aid. Her husband dashed into the room and attempted to assist her. Both were quickly enveloped in the flames. The frantic effort of Mr. Soule to save his wife availed nothing and he was himself soon burned so that he was unable either to assist her or care for himself.

When assistance arrived the unfortunate couple were found in the backyard of their home. Mr. Soule still feebly and vainly trying to beat the flames from his wife's body with a

A fire alarm was turned in and the department responded quickly. Both Mr. and Mrs. Soule were taken to Dr. C. C. Albright's private hospital on the fire apparatus. Little could be done beyond relieving their suffering. Dr. H. W. Stephens, H. F. Carman and C. C. Albright were all called to attend Mr. and Mrs. Soule at the hospital. Dr. H. D. Kistler of Butte was also summoned and he came to Anaconda on the 10 o'clock train.

After a hasty examination the physicians pronounced recovery for Mrs. Soule impossible, and announced the condition of Mr. Soule as highly dangerous but with a chance for recovery, although he will be crippled for the remainder of his life.

The accident was a terrible shock to the people of Anaconda. Both Mr. Soule and his wife are widely known and are among the most popular residents of the smelter city. Among their friends were numbered most of the residents of the city. Mr. Soule came with his wife from Kallispell about a year ago to take charge of the hardware department of the Copper City Commercial company. He had proven himself to be one of the valuable heads of the departments of this big concern.

Mrs. Soule's brother, E. Murdock, employed as bookkeeper in the Hennessy store in Butte, was summoned to the bedside this morning. Mr. Soule has a brother residing in Idaho Falls, who was also called to Anaconda.

Mrs. Soule's parents have been notified by telegraph to hurry to Anaconda. The couple had been married only a few years. Mrs. Soule was an invalid for nearly a year with rheumatism. When she came to Anaconda she was taken down with scarlet fever and quarantined. Then she went to Seattle for her health, and had been back but 30 days when she met with the terrible accident this morning.

Anaconda, Aug. 6.—Mrs. R. F. Soule died at 2 o'clock this afternoon of the fearful burns received this morning in the explosion of a gasoline stove in her home.

Mr. Soule's condition this afternoon is more serious than at first supposed. The physicians state that both his legs are badly burned; that his left arm is burned to a crisp, and that he inhaled the flames, burning his throat and windpipe. There is only a faint hope that he will recover.

WILLIAM J. SPARKS IS DEAD.

William J. Sparks, one of the oldest and best known residents of the county, died at the home of his daughter, Mr. Fred Lampton, at Eureka. Mr. Sparks had recently gone from the valley to live with his daughter, and in moving his furniture at Eureka ruptured a blood vessel, which resulted in his death.

Mr. Sparks was one of the pioneer settlers of the valley, and he had taken an active part in politics and in all public affairs.

In the early days he was elected to the legislature as a populist, and served one term. With the decline of the populist party he allied himself with the democracy, and in later years has been a prominent figure in the party conventions. He was seventy years old, and of late years his health has been gradually failing, which caused him to go to Eureka to be with his daughter.

He was a man of positive convictions, and in his advocacy of them he was at times inclined to be impatient with those who viewed things differently, but he was of unimpaired character, and of the stuff from which good citizens are made.

The body was brought to KallsPELL, and the funeral occurred yesterday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, the funeral address being delivered by Rev. Geo. McVey Fisher, his friend and acquaintance from the early days.

BOY DROWNED IN FLATHEAD

Boat Overturned by Party Fishing—Body Not Yet Recovered.

Ray Spear, the fifteen year old son of James Spear, who lives in Helena Flats, was drowned in Flathead river yesterday afternoon. At last account the body had not been recovered.

Mr. Spear, accompanied by his three children, Ray, Laura and Irwin, had gone to the river fishing. They found a boat on the bank, and pushed out into the river with it. In the current the boat struck a snag and turned over, throwing them all into the water. Mr. Spear got hold of Irwin and reached shore with him. Laura got hold of the overturned boat and floated with it a long distance down the river, finally coming to a snag sticking above the water. She caught this and clung to it, calling for help. Her older brother, Morris, swam out to her, and got her ashore.

Ray could swim, but in the icy water was either taken with cramps, or was hurt, and went down before he could reach shore. In the hope that his body might be recovered while there was still a chance to resuscitate him, Dr. Martin was summoned by telephone to come out and attend to him in case he were found, but though a diligent search was kept up the body could not be located.

RAY SPEAR'S BODY FOUND.

The body of Ray Spear was found late yesterday afternoon. Coroner Sherman procured grab hooks and went to search for him, but just as he got to the place of the drowning he met the party that had recovered the body. It was in a deep hole out in the main current of the river. The boy had a large red handkerchief in his pocket that partly protruded and was discernable through the clear water. It was by this handkerchief that the rescue party found him. The funeral will be held at Pine Grove church tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, and burial in the church yard.

THOMAS STAPLETON IS DEAD.

Thomas S. Stapleton a well known colored man, died at his home in KallsPELL last Saturday morning. He had been in poor health for a number of years, and over a year ago went back to his old home in Missouri to try the effect of a change of climate, but received little relief. He and Mrs. Stapleton returned to KallsPELL last summer. The immediate cause of his death was heart trouble. Mrs. Stapleton left Monday with the body for New Franklin, Missouri, where the burial will take place.

Mr. Stapleton was about 48 years old at the time of his death. He was a quiet, industrious man, a good citizen, and had the respect and confidence of every one who knew him.

Stein Jacob 28 Dec 1908 p1

MAN KILLED AT WHITEFISH.

Early last Saturday morning just as the engine was to be coupled to the train at Whitefish, the car inspector discovered the body of a man lying at the front end of the blind baggage. The man's head was badly crushed, evidently being caught when the air was released and the cars started back. When found, he was still breathing, but dead. The only thing that might identify him was a letter written to the Lincoln Free Press, a German paper at Lincoln, Nebraska. It gave the name of Jacob Stein, and directed that the paper be sent to Flatwillow, Yergone county, Montana. As Flatwillow is about eighty miles from the railroad, it would be useless to wire, and to write would mean at least two weeks to get a reply, so Coroner Sherman directed that he be buried here. A look on sheep dipping that was found in his pocket would indicate that he was a sheep herder. He was a man of at least forty-five years of age.

Taylor John W 10 Aug 1908 p6

JOHN W. TAYLOR.

John W. Taylor, aged 75 years, died at his home in the north part of town yesterday afternoon. Taylor, of Chester, is here for the funeral. Services will be held at the Methodist church at 2:30 tomorrow, Tuesday afternoon, and the interment will be in the Conrad Memorial Cemetery.

FACTS OF THE TROY SHOOTING.

Troy, Montana, Dec. 18.—The man who was shot five miles south of Troy was named Robert A. Taylor. He was shot by his brother, Leland B. Taylor, who mistook him for a deer. He was shot through the front and center of the thigh, cutting the femoral artery, causing severe hemorrhage. The brother went for help, as he could not carry him alone. When he returned with help Taylor was unconscious, and died at ten p.m. Thursday night. Leland B. Taylor, who did the shooting, says he is acquainted with W. B. Rhodes, of Kalispell, and went to school with him in Missouri. The shooting was accidental. The man who was shot left a wife and four children.
