Bishop Hannah 2 Sep 1910 p1

A SAD DEATH.

Rev. H. M. Green received the sad intelligence on Wednesday of the death of Hannah Bishop. Some months ago Mrs. Bishop together with her two sons and daughter, moved to Twin Bridges, Idaho, hoping the change might prove beneficial to Mrs. Bishop's health. Recently the whole family, including a married daughter and her three little children, and excepting Edwin Bishop, were stricken with typhoid fever. Hannah succumbed to the dread disease, and it is feared that others are very seriously ill.

Edwin shipped his sister's body to Kalspell for burial and it arrived here this morning. The funeral services will be held from the Episcopal church, on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Conrad Memorial cemetery.

Hannah was a sweet, gentle girl, dearly beloved by her schoolmates and friends, who greatly mourn her untimely death.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the sorrowing ones who are left at home, and the friends here regret that the many intervening miles make their help in trouble impossible.

Bradley J P 13 May 1910 p12

FOUND DEAD IN BED

J. P. Bradley, a well known Great Northern conductor, who resided for many years in Kalspell before the division was moved to Whitefish, died very suddenly Tuesday night at the Galex hotel in Spokane, supposedly from an attack of heart failure.

Bradley was running regularly on the fast mail between Whitefish and Spokane, but, having a forty-hour layover, he was to make the return trip Wednesday morning on the fast train. He failed to show up for duty, and the call boy went to the hotel to get him, when, on entering his room it was found that he was dead. The covers on the bed were hardly disturbed, and beside the dead man lay a number of magazines, indicating that he had retired the night before as usual and probably read for some time before falling asleep. The physicians called stated that the deceased had probably fallen asleep, and the trouble came upon him and he never awoke. The indications were that he never struggled.

The news of the sudden death was telegraphed to Whitefish, where it was received at first with incredulity, as the conductor had been enjoying, apparently, the very best of health, and was never known to even complain of any heart trouble.

He leaves a wife and many friends to mourn his untimely death.

The body was shipped to Kalspell, the funeral services being held this afternoon from the Methodist church.

The husband and one child, a boy three years old, are left of the immediate family to mourn the untimely departure of the beloved wife and mother.

Domino Sanantonio 17 Jun 1910 p1

MURDER AT LIBBY

Another murder was charged up to Lincoln county Wednesday morning, when Tony Bridges shot Sanantonio Domino. It seems that there had been bad blood between the two Italians for some time and Wednesday morning the trouble culminated by Tony sending a bullet from a 38-caliber revolver into the vitals of his antagonist. The deceased was shot in the region of the heart, dying about seven in the afternoon of the same day. The slayer, Tony Bridges, is confined in the jail. An inquest will be held Friday. JOE DUPUIS KILLED IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

A sad accident of the hunting season occurred last Saturday which cost the life of Joseph O. Dupuis, one of the most highly respected citizens of this locality.

Mr. Dupuis left Polson Wednesday of last week in company with his brother, Francis Dupuis, Pat Normandy and C. Benson, expecting to spend a week or ten days hunting in the Swan lake country. The party had reached a point about 25 miles north of Swan lake and were preparing to make a permanent camp. Hearing a noise which he supposed was a deer, Joe Dupuis started ahead of the others to investigate. He had gone but a short distance when a log upon which he stepped turned and threw him to the ground. It is presumed the gun which Mr. Dupuis carried was cocked and when the stock hit the ground it exploded, the ball entering just inside the left wrist and coming out above the elbow. Prompt action was taken by the other members of the party to allay the flow of blood, and they at once started toward Bigfork with the injured man. They reached Bigfork Sunday, and altho Mr. Dupuis was greatly weakened by loss of blood, he insisted that the journey to Polson be continued. The party reached here Sunday evening about 8 o'clock, but the injured man had gone too long without medical attention and died about two hours after reaching Polson.

Mr. Dupuis was born here 34 years ago. He was educated in schools at Lawrence, Kansas, and Salem, Oregon, and while at school in the latter place he worked at the printing trade. In 1902 he married Miss Agnes Sloan of Mud Creek. To the union three children were born, Misses Myrtle, Hazel and Lydia Dupuis. These with Mrs. Dupuis survive, and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to them in their sorrow.

The funeral was held at the Catholic church Wednesday afternoon, and burial followed in the Catholic cemetery. The large crowd at the funeral and in the cortege when it moved to the cemetery attested the high esteem in which Mr. Dupuis was held in this city.—Polson Sentinel.

DEATH OF A. L. EAKINS

Arthur L. Eakins, one of the leading lumbermen of the county, and manager of the Enterprise mill at Sedan, was fatally injured by the breaking of a belt at the mill last Saturday morning, and died of his injuries a few hours later.

Mr. Eakins, with D. B. Barber as an associate, secured control of the Enterprise and State mills last winter, Mr. Eakins having charge of the mill at Sedan and Mr. Barber the State mill. On the morning of the fatal accident Mr. Eakins went out to the mill, as was his custom, to take active supervision of the work, and while attempting to put on a heavy driving belt the accident occurred. The millwright, a man named Gunn, was also struck by the belt, but it was the manager who received the full force of the blow, and he was hurled eighteen feet to the rafters of the mill, and fell heavily on his head, his skull being badly fractured at the base as a result.

The sad news was telephoned to town, and Mr. Barber and Drs. Lamb and Macdonald started for the mill by automobile within a few minutes, but there was little that could be done for the injured man, and while there was slight hope, it was almost certain to the physicians that the end was only a matter of time. A special train was made up here, and run of Sedan to bring him in, and at half past ten o'clock Mr. Eakins was at his home, but he never regained consciousness after the accident, and died shortly after the noon hour.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Episcopal church in this city by Rev. Green, and the remains laid tenderly to rest in the Conrad cemetery. The lumbermen's association, of which the departed was an active and honored member, took part in the services, and members of the organization acted as pall bearers.

Arthur L. Eakins, whose death came so suddenly and so tragically last Saturday, was a young man of highest character and worth, and the news of the terrible accident that thus early in life blighted a promising career, robbed the community of a good and useful citizen, and worst of all left a young wife and infant babe, was received with the deepest sorrow in KallsPELL.

Mr. Eakins had been a resident of KallsPELL but four years, but in that time he had made many friends and proved himself to be a capable business man, a genial gentleman, and a man in whom everyone had the greatest confidence and respect. He came to KallsPELL in the summer of 1906, and shortly after his arrival here was married to Miss Bessie Barber. He had engaged in the lumbering business with Mr. Barber, and had succeeded in a business way admirably.

The deepest sympathy of all their friends and acquaintances goes out to the bereaved wife and family.

Ferguson Roy 25 Oct 1910 p1

BIG FORK RESIDENT ACCIDENTALLY KILLED
Roy Ferguson, Prominent Young Man of Big Fork, Thrown From Load of Hay With Fatal Results, Sunday Afternoon.

Roy Ferguson, a well known resident of the east shore of Flathead, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon while hauling a load of hay, by being thrown from the wagon and the wheel of the heavily loaded wagon striking over his head, death resulting instantaneously.

Just how the accident occurred is not known, as there were no eyewitnesses to the unfortunate affair, but it is supposed that the team ran away, and as the roads were in bad condition, being newly worked, the unfortunate man was thrown from the load and killed.

Ferguson had been working on the roads, and Sunday went up to Bigfork where he borrowed a team from E. J. Sitter to haul a load of hay to his homestead, several miles away from town. About a ton of baled hay was loaded onto the wagon, and Ferguson started for home with the load, and this was the last time he was seen alive. About three miles away from Bigfork, at a point where the road encircles a small pond, the accident occurred, but just how is not known. One of the neighbor women who lived just across the pond from where the accident occurred, saw that something was wrong, and went to where the wagon was standing, the horses having broken loose and run a considerable distance down the road, when she found the dead body of Ferguson lying under the wheels, mangled beyond recognition.

She at once notified the neighbors and the body was removed to his home.

Roy Ferguson was one of the most highly respected young men of the lower east side country, and had a host of friends to whom the news of his sudden death came as a great shock. He had lived in the Bigfork neighborhood for the past twelve or fifteen years, and had always led a sober, upright life. He is spoken of in the highest terms by all who knew him, and the sincere sympathy of his neighbors goes out to the mother and brother, with whom he lived on the homestead. Mr. Ferguson was about thirty years of age, and unmarried.

The funeral services will be held from Bigfork tomorrow, under the auspices of the Woodman lodge, of which order deceased had only recently become a member.

RECOVERED BODY OF GOOD INDIAN

The body of Prescott Finley, the Indian who disappeared on June 24th was found on the lake shore about two miles east of town Saturday evening. Finley and a companion had been to Bigfork, in a row boat, where they had secured some whiskey, and were both intoxicated. His companion went to sleep in the bottom of the boat and when he awoke Finley was gone.—Polson Courier.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Word was received here the last of the week of the accidental death of Carl Floerchinger, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floerchinger, for many years residents of the east side of the valley. The family moved to Conrad last fall, where they took up a homestead, and it was there the accident occurred. The following account of the sad occurrence appears in the Conrad Observer of last Thursday:

An accident near Fowler, about 14 miles northeast of Conrad, last Thursday, resulted in the death of Carl Floerchinger, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Floerchinger, who have taken up land in that section.

The boy and his father were moving fence posts a short distance and had loaded a load on a rack which was on the wagon. The boy was driving the horses, seated on the posts, and in crossing a plowed furrow the jar caused the posts to move forward carrying the boy with them onto the horses' heels. The horses ran away and the wagon passed over his head and body.

Mr. Floerchinger came to Conrad and secured the services of Dr. Power, who performed an operation on the boy's head, the skull of which had been crushed. The accident happened about 9 o'clock in the morning and the boy died at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Funeral services were held at the Catholic church in Conrad at 2:30 p. m. last Saturday and burial was made in the cemetery west of town.

POPULAR ENGINEER DIES IN MOUNTAINS

Ray Forcum Dies of Exhaustion on Hunting Expedition in Mountains
Near Java Last Week.

Ray Forcum, one of the most popular engineers on the Kallispell division, died very suddenly last Wednesday afternoon in the mountains near Java, while hunting with a party of friends from Whitefish. Forcum, in company with two companions, had gone into the country to the south of Java, which is very mountainous and hard to reach. They had made camp on Tuesday night in a favorable spot, and Wednesday morning started for the higher hills. The first part of the day Forcum took the lead, and constantly urged his companions to travel faster. But along in the afternoon, he began getting tired, his pace slackened, and long before camp was reached he was past traveling at all. One of the other hunters started in to camp ahead, intending to prepare supper, and have the cabin warmed before the tired hunter arrived, while the other man remained with Mr. Forcum, coming slower. Only a short distance had been traveled after the first man left, until the exhausted man fainted, and never recovered. It is supposed that death resulted from heart failure.

The two companions wrapped the body carefully and left it by the trail, going into Essex for help, and to notify the friends of the deceased man, as well as the coroner. A party was organized at once to go after the body, but it was not until last night the remains were finally brot into Whitefish.

Mr. Forcum has one brother in Whitefish, and is a cousin of P. L. Forcum. The deceased man leaves a wife and one child. He had been employed for several months as engineer on one of the helper engines running from Essex to the summit.

Funeral services are to be held at Whitefish today, and later the remains are to be brot to Kallispell by special train, and the remains laid to rest in the Conrad cemetery by the Masonic lodge of this city, of which deceased was a member.

THE FUNERAL OF RAY FORCUM

The funeral services for the late Ray L. Forcum were held in Whitefish, Wednesday morning, after which a special funeral train bore the body to this city, accompanied by a large concourse of sorrowing friends, and was laid to rest in the Conrad Memorial cemetery by the Masonic lodge of this city, of which deceased was an honored member.

David G. Galins died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. W. Doe, at the Doe home in Libby, Tuesday night, at the age of 74 years, from the infirmities of old age.

Mr. Galins came to Libby last fall to make his home with his daughter, from Stillwater, Minn., where he spent the greater part of his life. The old gentleman was highly respected by everyone who knew him, and during his last days made many friends in his new surroundings.

The body was brot to Kallispell last night by Mr. and Mrs. Doe from Libby, and is being prepared for shipment to the old home in Minnesota.

The funeral services were held in Libby yesterday morning.

WHITEFISH BOYS KILLED IN WRECK

That the lives of three Whitefish boys came to an untimely and terrible end in the wreck which occurred at Chattaroy, Wash., Sunday morning, November 6, cannot now be doubted, as a thoro investigation has been made.

Fred and Harry Geeslin, brothers, sons of Mrs. H. B. Brown, and Richard Hayes, son of Edward Hayes, the car foreman at this place, are the young men who it is supposed were killed and their bodies burned beyond recognition.

No alarm was felt at first that they were the victims of this wreck until some days later when a railroad man who knew the Hayes boy and had seen them getting out of Troy on the train that later collided with the apple train, reported the matter in a casual way.

Word was then sent to young Hayes' relatives in Hilbyard to ascertain if they had arrived there, and were informed that they had not put in an appearance there.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown went to Spokane last Friday to identify the remains, but found it impossible to do so, the bodies having been burned until they were unrecognizable, but the circumstances leave no ground for doubt as to their identity.

Two bodies were found lying together, one across the other, and the third was lying a few feet away.

Edward Hayes went to Spokane last Sunday to further investigate, but up to going to press we have obtained no word of his search.

It is reported that three more bodies were found in the wreckage, making twelve in all that met death in this accident.

The remains of the three young men who are supposed to be from here will be kept in the morgue at Spokane until thirty days have expired, when they will be brot here for burial.

The parents have the most sincere regrets of the citizens, in this, their hour of sorrow.—Whitefish Pilot.

GIBSON BOY DIES RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Mason Gibson, who was injured by falling under the wheels of a wagon load of sand last Monday afternoon, died at his home in Duncan addition Wednesday morning as a result of the accident.

Young Gibson had been working at the Northwestern mill, and a peculiar coincident with the fatal accident is the fact that the lad had only escaped a serious accident by a narrow margin a few days previous at the mill, and his parents had forbid his working there longer. He had gone to the mill and drawn his time, and was returning home when he fell under the wheels of the wagon and received the injuries that resulted in his death.

Deceased was only 16 years old at the time of his death. His father is employed in the Kallspeil Iron works, having only recently moved to this city. There were ten children in the family, Mason being one of the elder.

The funeral services were held by Rev. Armstrong from the residence Thursday afternoon.

WILLIAM T. GRIER KILLED

Wm. T. Grier, one of the best known residents of the lower east side valley, died very suddenly at his home yesterday morning from the effects of injuries received from an angry bull Sunday. He was changing the animal from one pasture to another, and in some way was knocked down and severely bruised about the head and back in an attack by the animal, but it was not considered at the time that he was dangerously hurt, and not until Tuesday afternoon did he commence to feel any serious effects from his injuries. Dr. Henderlite, the Bigfork physician, was called, and an examination showed that internal injuries had been sustained, and that the injured man was in a critical condition. Every thing possible was done for him, but the internal demorrhages that set in proved fatal, and he died about noon on the following day.

Mr. Grier had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances in the county, being a surveyor of more than ordinary ability. He had been elected county surveyor and served one term, and again two years ago was a candidate on the democratic ticket. He had put in much time surveying in different parts of the valley during his fifteen years' residence here besides his work in county service. He was known as a man of sterling honesty and character, and his sudden death is deeply deplored by his many friends. He leaves a wife and four children of the immediate family.

Funeral services were held this afternoon from the residence, and interment had in the Lone Pine cemetery.

KILLS WIFE AND SUICIDES

One of the gravest tragedies that has been enacted in Flathead county for several months occurred at Swan lake last Saturday, when Richard Groom, an old-timer of that neighborhood, shot and instantly killed his wife, and a few hours later sent a bullet crashing thru his own brain rather than face the consequences of his crime.

Domestic trouble is assigned as the cause of the terrible act, and it was the remorse at the final parting that influenced Groom to commit the rash deed. Groom and his wife were married only about a year ago, and for some time their relations had been none too pleasant. Last week they decided to separate, and Saturday they were engaged nearly all day in dividing up their personal effects. According to the story of neighbors living in the vicinity, the wife had taken all of her belongings, even digging up some of the flowers from around the house.

Groom was assisting the woman in taking her effects across the river, and as the report goes, on taking over the last load he bid the woman an affectionate farewell and was watching her wend her way down the trail toward the road where a wagon was waiting to take her things to Bigfork. After watching the retreating form of his wife for an instant Groom drew a revolver from his pocket and fired point blank at the woman, and she fell mortally wounded, and probably died a short time afterward.

Groom hastened to the home of U. Landis, a neighbor, and told them what he had done, and that he was going to Bigfork to give himself up. He only remained at the Landis home a short time, and when questioned as to why he committed the deed, replied that he must have been crazy. Mr. Landis hurried to the house of a neighbor and then proceeded to the spot where the woman was shot, and found her dead. They then went to the groom house, and just as they neared the cabin they heard a shot, and hurrying inside found Groom just breathing his last, with the entire top of his head blown off.

Coroner Waggener was notified and went down Sunday evening and took charge of the bodies. They were brot to this city and prepared for burial, the interment taking place today. Mrs. Groom is being buried in the Conrad cemetery, while the body of her slayer will rest in the Lone Pine cemetery near Bigfork.

Groom had lived in the Swan lake country for years, and had been in the state for 19 years. He was a charter member of the Bigfork lodge, I. O. O. F. The couple were married last year, Mrs. Groom having been married before and divorced.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK AT BROWNING

J. E. Wagner, who was called to Browning last Saturday morning to take charge of the bodies of two wreck victims, returned to Whitefish with the bodies Sunday morning, and gives the following account of the accident:

The wreck occurred on the curve just west of the station at Browning, when train No. 44, the eastbound Burlington, was pulling into the yards. The freight train, which was heading into the siding, had not gotten into the clear, and the engine of the passenger struck the caboose. In the caboose was Conductor Charley Grant, Fireman H. L. Hall and Brakeman L. Swizer. Grant jumped from the car and escaped injury, but Swizer and Hall were asleep, and tho they attempted to get out when warned by Grant, they were unable to make it, and were caught. The car at once caught fire and it was supposed that Hall was killed instantly as he was not heard to cry out, but Swizer talked to the men outside, urging them to fight the fire, and telling them he was all right, not to mind him, but get the fire out. A heroic effort was made to extinguish the flames, but of no avail, and the imprisoned men were both badly burned, Swizer dying from the heat.

The body of Hall was prepared for shipment at Whitefish and sent to Elmira, N. Y., his old home, for burial. The remains of Swizer were brot to Kalspell and interred in the Conrad cemetery, funeral services being held from the undertaking parlors yesterday morning by Rev. Griffiths of the Christian church.

The following account of the accident appears in the Great Falls Tribune of Sunday morning:

Whitefish, Mont., June 11.—A serious wreck occurred at 5 a. m. today, when train No. 44, on the Great Northern, in charge of Conductor McFadden, Engineer Sullivan, Fireman Hammill, collided with the end of a freight train just pulling into a siding at Browning.

Brakeman L. Swizer and Fireman H. L. Hall were killed.

The freight train which was not yet clear, was in charge of Conductor Bonnes, with Engineer Hove at the throttle. The caboose and two cars of immigrant moveables were telescoped and burned. Traffic was delayed about five hours on the main line.

Conductor Charles Grant, who was deadheading with the two men who were killed jumped just in time to save himself.

The bodies of the two men who met death will be held for inquest by the Teton county coroner or possibly by Indian officials, the accident occurring on the reservation.

Brakeman Swizer is a son of A. B. Swizer of this place and had a wide circle of friends, who regret his untimely death. Mr. Hall was a new man on the road, arriving recently from the state of New York. The remains of the victims of the fatality will be brot here on No. 1 tonight, and arrangements made for interment later.

JOHN E. HARDWICK PASSES AWAY

The death of John E. Hardwick, a pioneer of Flathead, who left here in 1905, for the west coast, is thus reported in a St. Helena, Cal., paper the week of January 20:

John E. Hardwick, the well known Conn valley farmer, died at St. Helena, last Thursday. Cancer of the stomach was the immediate cause of his death, altho he had been in failing health since 1892, when he suffered a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Deceased was a native of Lake county, Ia., where he was born May 27, 1856. In 1887 he went to Montana, where he resided until 1905, when he came to this county with his family, and purchased the old Mathewson place in Conn valley.

He is survived by a widow and five children, the latter being Ernest A., Grace, Charles, Kenneth and Edward. He also leaves a mother and two sisters in Portland, Ore., and a brother and sister in Helena, Mont.

The funeral services were held Saturday morning in J. S. Noble's undertaking parlors, Rev. James Mitchell officiating, and the remains were laid to rest in St. Helena cemetery.

Haropoulis James 16 Sep 1910 p5

VICTIM OF THE WRECK

James Haropoulis, one of the injured passengers on the wrecked Burlington train at Coram last week, died at the hospital in Whitefish, and was brought to KallsPELL for burial. Peter Andratsopoulos, a cousin of deceased, came from Canton, O., to accompany the remains to that place for burial, but decided after arriving here to inter the body in the Conrad cemetery in this city.

Haropoulis was a young Greek, who had lived in this country for several years, during which time he had accumulated quite a stake. He had been in business in Spokane, and only recently sold out and was on his way to Canton to join Andratsopoulos, a cousin, and the only relative he had in this country.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from Waggoner's undertaking parlors, Rev. Father O'Farrell performing the last rites.

Harrigan Jim 15 Mar 1910 p8

JIM HARRIGAN DEAD

A sad item of news from Los Angeles was word of Jim Harrigan's death last week, March 6. For 29 years J. M. Harrigan has lived or claimed his residence in KallsPELL. No matter if he went to Florida, Kentucky or California for the winter months he was always back in the Flathead with the bluebirds. He loved this valley and delighted in it. He was universally known as a square man and a gentle one. Hundreds of old friends in KallsPELL will feel moisture in the eye hearing of his too early demise. He was only 53 years of age, but he had burned the candle at both ends and a weak heart resulted. His only near relative was a sister residing in Texas, who inherited what few worldly goods he died possessed of, but Jim gave much to charity and himself enjoyed always the fat of the land, and like the Crusader Knight may well say: "What I had I gave, what I saved I lost."

Peace be to his ashes. The world could have much better lost a better man.

Haverlandt Gertrude 30 Dec 1910 p1

YOUNG WOMAN FOUND DEAD AT LOCAL HOTEL

Miss Gertrude Haverlandt, who arrived in KallsPELL from Ellsworth, Wisconsin, a few days ago to visit with her brothers, Caesar and Charles Haverlandt of the Conrad house, was found dead in her bed early yesterday morning. Upon retiring the night before she was apparently feeling all right, but in the morning a little nephew, who slept with her, was unable to awaken her. Dr. Bottorf was summoned, who made a thorough examination of the case. He, with Coroner Waggoner consulted and came to the conclusion that the young woman had died of natural causes and that it would not be necessary to hold an inquest. The body was found with the face buried in a pillow. The remains have been prepared for shipment and will be accompanied to her home by her brother, Caesar Haverlandt. The bereaved brothers have the sympathy of a large number of friends here.

OLD MAN MURDERS OLD-TIME PARTNER

James Haynes was murdered in the rooming house on First avenue west, known as the Elmore House, last Friday night, his slayer being an old acquaintance and pal. The horror of the occurrence is made more striking by the fact that the perpetrator did not know what he was doing, and when arrested was wholly unaware that he had done anything out of the way. Whiskey and dope tell the story, the man that did the killing not knowing what he had done, and the murdered man would scarcely have been hurt had he not been nearly dead from the effects of opiates and drink.

The two men had been working on the section, and came in Thursday night and took rooms at the Elmore. About 4 o'clock Friday afternoon one of the boarders at the place heard a noise in the room occupied by the men that sounded, as she described it, like a person spanking a pillow heavily. Later Shannon, one of the occupants of the room, left the place, and later returned and took some opium from the room and left, but nothing more was heard in the room. Later in the evening the chambermaid went to the room and found Haynes lying half out of bed, with his head badly beaten. She immediately called for help, and an examination showed the man was dead.

The sheriff was notified, and a search was started for Shannon. He was found, drunk and asleep in a chair at the Conrad House. He was taken to jail, and held for the coroner's inquest, which was held Saturday night. It was shown at the inquest that Haynes had met death at the hands of Shannon, the latter beating the man over the head with a board until he was dead.

Shannon explained that he did not know he had hurt Haynes, that he had merely tried to wake him up to get more booze, but that he was not mad at him.

Both men are more than 60 years old, and were at one time in the county poor farm together. They had lately been working on the section, and were supposed to be the best of friends.

Shannon is being held on a charge of murder without bail.

KILLED IN FIGHT

A railroad laborer named Matti Holse was stabbed and stoned to death at Troy Saturday night by two of his countrymen, says the Libby News. W. Walo and W. Palma are under arrest, and there seems to be no doubt whatever about their being the men who killed Holse, as there were several witnesses who saw the fight.

The men are all Finlanders, and are members of an extra gang which was recently sent to Troy from Whitefish. The three men became involved in a quarrel over some trivial money matters, which ended in a fight, in which Holse was stabbed in several places and struck with stones. It is said that the men had been drinking, altho they were not drunk.

Coroner F. M. Flinn held an inquest in Troy on Monday, the verdict being to the effect that deceased came to his death from knife wounds inflicted by Palma and Walo, who are held criminally liable and guilty of causing the death of Holse. The jury was composed of F. B. Callow, W. F. Tillotson, Joe Bartlett, M. F. Gosaweller, James Stonechest and Henry Weldner.

Sheriff M. A. Shanahan brot the accused men to Libby after the coroner's inquest on Monday, and they are now in the county jail here.
