30 Jul 1910 p8- marriage

THE WEDDING AT LONGS

Over a hundred friends and relatives thronged the beautifully decorated rooms and verandah of the Long home, The Pines, the evening of the 27th, to witness the ceremony which was to declare John Evans and Mary Rachel Long man and wife.

At 8 o'clock M. B. Rizzo and Prof. C. W. Disbrow began to play the wedding march, when all talking stopped, and from one door came the bride, attended by Senator and Mrs. Thos. D. Long, Master Thomas Long as ring bearer, and Margaret Evans. From an opposite door came the groom, accompanied by Rev. H. M. Green. The bride, those attending her, the groom and Rev. Green took their positions in front of the mantel, which was elaborately matted with green, trimmed with white flowers and gracefully entwined with white streamers in the likeness of a bell. In the soft yellow light of the candles the scene was one that will be remembered by all those present.

After an invocation Rev. H. M. Green pronounced the words which made them one. Immediately the guests crowded forward to congratulate the couple and give them their best wishes.

The next half hour was spent in looking at the many fine presents which adorned the walls and covered several tables.

A delicious lunch was served by the girls of the Phi Kappa Phi and as the guests passed from the dining hall two members of the sorority pinned white and red bows with gold L-E on the ladies and gentlemen respectively.

A very pretty affair was the throwing of the bride's boquet. She had several of the young ladies present form a circle and then throw the flowers, and naturally enough all the young ladies were anxious to get at least one blossom. With strains of music filling the place the guests bid the happy couple adieu.

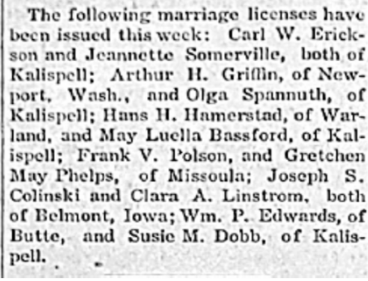

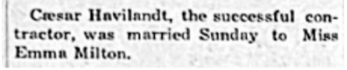

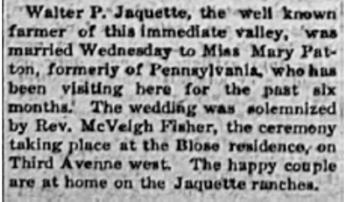

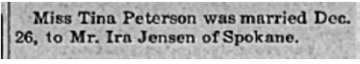

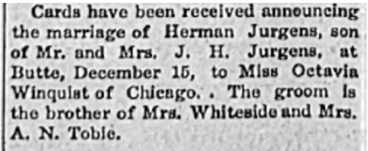

A rumor was afloat that the newlyweds would leave on the 11-15 train. This rumor became a fact when John and Mary appeared at the depot just in time to board the train with a crowd of young people at their heels peppering them with rice.

At last they were left alone to talk it all over as they sped along on their way to Lake McDonald where they will remain until their home is finished.—A Wedding Guest.
