The funeral of the late Kyrle Bellew, actor and playwright, who died recently at Salt Lake, was held at New York city yesterday. The funeral was private in accordance with his wishes.

By the death of Bellew the world loses one of its greatest and best actors. In his last play, "The Mollusc," he was making an extensive tour, reported to be his last, as he intended to leave the stage after its completion. But providence intervened and his untimely end came while he was in the midst of his activities.

Bellew had just finished his Chicago engagement and was on his way to the west, when he was stricken with pneumonia at Salt Lake, and died after only a few days' illness.

Among his greatest achievements were "Raffles," "The Thief," "Beau Brummel" and "Rip Van Winkle." His work will live on in the memory of the countless thousands who saw his high art, and the impressions he made cannot be obliterated by time nor death.

BOY AND GIRL DROWN IN WHITEFISH LAKE SUNDAY

Miss Grace Robinson and Joe Cavanaugh Meet An Untimely End.

THE GIRL WAS BORN AND REARED IN KALISPELL

Young Couple Skated Too Far and Struck Thin Ice—Funeral Will Be Held In Kalispell Tomorrow Afternoon From Christ Episcopal Church.

Kalispell people were greatly shocked on Sunday evening when the news reached here of the drowning of Miss Grace Robinson and Joe Cavanaugh in Whitefish lake. The long distance telephone was kept busy for several hours informing friends of the Robinson family with the details of the accident. The first message was received in Kalispell about 6 o'clock.

According to the reports brought here by friends the drowning occurred about 5 o'clock. Miss Robinson, together with her brother Percy and Joe Cavanaugh, were skating on the lake and were about three miles from the shore, near what is known as Beaver bay. While at this point the girl's brother informed the party that Mrs. Robinson would have dinner ready by the time they would be able to return home. Miss Robinson and Mr. Cavanaugh concluded they would skate a little further, and would then return.

Strike Thin Ice.

Percy Robinson then returned to Whitefish and the young couple continued only about nine or ten rods when they were suddenly precipitated into the icy waters of the lake. At this point the ice, reduced in thickness from four to one-half inches, and the weight of the skaters broke the ice. Their cries for help were heard by other skating parties on the lake, who quickly rushed to their aid. Before they were able to reach the spot the unfortunate couple had disappeared in the deep waters. Percy Robinson did not hear the cries for help and did not know of the terrible accident until a short time after his arrival at Whitefish.

Find Girl's Body First.

As soon as the news of the drowning reached Whitefish men were dispatched to rescue the bodies. Boats were procured and taken to the place and then the work of grappling for the bodies commenced, which resulted in the finding of the body of the girl about 7:30. According to E. L. Geddes, who assisted in the work of grappling for the bodies, the couple were clasped together when the end came, and both bodies were raised to within a short distance of the surface, when the body of the young man became loosened from that of the girl, and again went to the bottom of the lake.

After repeated attempts to rescue the body of the young man it was decided to abandon the task until the next morning, when the work was again taken up and the second body was brot to the surface about 10 o'clock. It is reported that the water was about 400 feet deep at this point.

Miss Robinson was 17 years of age and was born and reared in Kalispell, where her parents resided for a number of years. Her father, James A. Robinson, was in the jewelry business for a number of years and moved to Whitefish a few years ago to engage in the same business at that place. The young lady was attending the high school here prior to her death, and had made arrangements to return to this city on Sunday morning, she and her father going to the depot to take the train which they missed by a margin of about two minutes. The young lady returned home and during the afternoon the skating party was formed which resulted in her untimely and awful death. She was a great favorite in Kalispell, where she was known by practically everyone, and her loving and kindly disposition won her many friends wherever she went.

A Popular Young Man.

Mr. Cavanaugh was a clerk in the Senay Mercantile company's store at Whitefish, which was under the management of his brother and a brother-in-law, who, together with his widowed mother are heartbroken over his demise. He was a popular young man and was well known in Kalispell and Whitefish. It is rumored that the young couple were sweethearts, and were to have been married after Miss Robinson had finished her studies at the high school.

The parents of the young man and woman, as well as the many friends are grief-stricken, and the main topic discussed in the homes and on the streets of the city is the untimely taking away of the popular young people.

Funeral in Kalispell.

The funeral of Miss Robinson will be held in Kalispell tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Episcopal church. Rev. H. M. Green will conduct the services. Interment will be made in the Conrad Memorial cemetery. It is not known what arrangements have been made for the burial of Mr. Cavanaugh. It is thought, however, that the remains will be shipped east to rest beside those of his father, who died several years ago.

High School Mourns.

The students at the high school took up their studies yesterday with heavy hearts, for one and all loved the girl that had been one of the best for some time. All of the class combined to make arrangements for floral offerings, with the exception of the junior class, of which Miss Robinson was a member, who will furnish a beautiful floral piece appropriate to decorate the bier of the loved schoolmate.

Elmerman

Charles

9 May 1911 p5

Charles Elmerman and James Grant Smith, two young boys aged 11 and 14 respectively, were drowned at Jessup mill pond on Friday afternoon while fishing. No one witnessed the accident and it is impossible to tell how it happened. As soon as the boys were missed search was instituted, the pond being dragged all day Saturday without success. On Sunday morning the renewed efforts were rewarded and both bodies recovered at about 10 o'clock. Coroner Waggoner took charge of the bodies. The funerals were held yesterday, the Elmerman boy being buried at Union Chapel cemetery, and the Smith boy's funeral was held at Holt.

12 May 1911 p4

The funerals of James Smith and Charley Elmerman took place Monday, one at 9:30, the other at 1 p. m. The boys went fishing Saturday morning and were to be home by noon. As they did not come home the parents got anxious and finally search was made all along the creek and all night parties searched the timber around the mill for them, but without avail. Finally, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock they were taken out of the mill pond dead. As far as one can judge they must have been in the boat and pulled it up to the floating logs and tried to cross on the logs to land, and a log likely rolled and one or both fell in. In the extremely high wind prevailing that day no one heard them. James was 4 and Charley 11. Rev. Early preached the funeral sermons both at the Union chapel and Holt church. The whole district sorrows with the families in their sudden bereavement. Both Creston and Holt schools closed to attend the funeral of their schoolmates and lovely flowers covered both caskets, tributes of love and affection from all.

YOUNG BOY DROWNS.

Near Bigfork on last Thursday two young boys, Enders and Smith, were rowing on the lake near the east shore and in playing about the boat dipped water which frightened the Ender lad and he jumped into the water. He was quickly rescued by his companion who proved to be an excellent swimmer. Both boys grasped hold of the upturned boat and with orders to Enders to hold on, Smith went to the shore for another boat and just as he started to return after the other lad, he saw him sink. An alarm was given and quickly assistance reached the spot, but too late. The body was soon recovered and taken to the home of the grief-stricken parents. The funeral was held on Saturday and the body laid to rest in Lone Pine cemetery.

Conductor John Hall, one of the well and favorably known Great Northern railway men, met a sad and violent death yesterday, near Batavia, about five miles west of Kallispell. Mr. Hall was in charge of the work train and as they were backing up, the train ran into some cattle. Conductor Hall was on the rear end, and the caboose being derailed, it is thought he was thrown from the platform where he was last seen, and the entire train passed over his body before the accident was discovered. The body was frightfully mangled, and death must have been almost instantaneous.

Mr. Hall had formerly been a resident of Kallispell with his family, for many years. About a year ago they moved to Seattle, where his work then took him, and the wife and four children are in that city. Arrangements for the interment will not be known until Mrs. Hall is heard from.
