OTHER STRICKEN;
HE SINKS IN LAKE

BRIANT DIES OF HEART FAILURE WHILE IN SWIMMING.

Briant died of heart failure while swimming in Foy's lake about Monday afternoon. He was swimming with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barbee and Mrs. Barbee's sister, Catherine Smith, of Spokane.

The party went to the lake in a motor automobile. The four of them were in the water when Briant sank. Barbee had swum across to the north of the lake and was returning toward the island while Briant was swimming toward the island and south about 200 feet from Barbee.

Barbee called to Barbee asking where he was. He was told that he was in the water. Almost immediately he was pulled up by Barbee again. "Ed, where is he?"

Showed No Alarm.

Briant did not indicate by his tone of voice that he was alarmed, in danger or in any pain. But Barbee saw him and Briant caught up to him. The two had gone some distance toward the shore when Briant collapsed and sank pulling Barbee through about 15 feet of water to the bottom of the lake. As Barbee was exhausted he could not hold Briant in the water to bring him as Barbee reached the surface called to Mrs. Smith, who was to go for help. She went to the house of John H. Foy, who lives on the lake. He came in a boat and Barbee got Briant out after he was in the water about 15 minutes. They worked with him but there was no sign of life.

Dr. R. H. Bickett and Dr. T. J. James were called. The doctors said that all indications were that Briant died of heart failure before he sank in the water and that it was not a case of drowning. Coroner Waggener gave a verdict of death from heart failure.

Probably Cold Current.

Dr. Bickett said that the action of the heart probably was checked by a warm body coming in contact with the cold current in the lake.

Briant said nothing to Barbee after he reached him to indicate he was in pain. Barbee said that the young man's hold on his wrist was firm but that it tightened into a clutch when Briant pulled him under the water.

Was Church Worker.

Briant was 25 years old and has been working as a painter since he graduated from Flathead high school in 1910. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. M. Briant, a younger brother, Fred, who lives at 1012 Second avenue east and a sister, Mrs. Blanche Lytle.

Briant was an active member of the Christian church, being a member of the official board, a member of the choir and active in Sunday school and Christian Endeavor work. He was appointed on a committee Sunday night to help gather magazines to send to the Kallispell national guard men now stationed on the border.

The funeral will be held at the Christian church at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

BRIANT FUNERAL HELD.

Great Crowd at Christian Church Pays Tribute to Young Man.

The funeral service of John Briant, was held at the Christian church Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. M. Putman, the pastor. The official board of which Mr. Briant was a member attended in a body. The choir which Briant had occupied as a member of the choir was banded with flowers. The choir sang three numbers.

The great number of flowers placed around the pulpit, and the crowd of friends which filled the auditorium and Sunday school room paid tribute to the esteem of Kallispell people for Mr. Briant.

Burial was at Central cemetery. Briant died of heart failure while swimming at Foy's lake Monday afternoon.

EVERY A. CLARK DEAD.

The funeral of Avery A. Clark was held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Waggoner undertaking parlors. Rev. O. H. Heiter in charge. Interment was made in Central cemetery. Mr. Clark was a young man but 23 years of age. He returned to his homestead in the Thompson river country last Wednesday and was found dead on the following day. Death, it is said, resulted from heart failure. Mr. Clark was married. He was related to the Bala brothers of Thompson river and had resided in the Flathead for a number of years.

DIES FROM ALCOHOLISM.
 Swan Colason, who died Sunday morning at the county jail, was buried today in Demersville cemetery. Colason has been in the Flathead for about six years, during which time he has worked at the Whitford and Denset ranches. So far as is known he has no relatives in this vicinity. Death resulted from alcoholism. Colason was discovered by the officers Saturday afternoon in a drunken stupor, in an old shack near the O'Neil Lumber company. The county physician was summoned but could do nothing to save his life.

The funeral Sunday of the late Mrs. H. M. Collins of Holt, brought a large circle of friends to the church to pay their last respect to one who had done so much towards building up a good community. Rev. Lay L. Totter preached the funeral service, after which she was laid to rest among her neighbors and friends in Lone Pine cemetery, and the family has the deepest sympathy of the whole community in this their hour of deep sorrow.

MRS. T. M. COLLINS DEAD.
 Mrs. T. M. Collins, a pioneer resident of the Flathead, died Sunday night at the family home near Bigfork. The funeral is to be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Catholic church. Mrs. Collins was 62 years of age. Besides the husband, four sons and a daughter survive.

Mrs. Tom Collins passed away Sunday night at the age of 62. Her sudden death was quite a shock to her family and large circle of friends. The deep sympathy is with the family in this hour of sorrow.

The funeral of the late Mrs. T. M. Collins was held Wednesday morning from St. Mathews church, interest being made in Conrad cemetery.

BODIES NOT RECOVERED FROM TREACHEROUS STILLWATER

Harrold Terrill and J. Vere Corbin, Popular Young Men, Drown While Fishing at Northwestern Dam Tuesday.

The search for the bodies of Harrold Terrill and J. Vere Corbin, who were drowned Tuesday evening at the Stillwater dam, has gone on almost incessantly the last two days. Yesterday a crew of rivermen from the Somers Lumber company assisted in the work, but without success. Large rewards have been offered and the search will be continued up and down the river today. Because of the rily nature of the stream, it is feared that the bodies may not be recovered.

The community was shocked Tuesday evening by the news of the drowning of Harrold Terrill and J. Vere Corbin, well-known and popular young men, in the Stillwater river. Both boys were employed at the K. M. and immediately after work went to the dam near the Northwestern mill for a couple of hours' fishing. They waded out in the shallow water from the south bank, just below the dam and fished there for perhaps half an hour without success. Deciding that they could have better luck near the swift water, the boys secured an old tub of a boat from a small boy and started out. When the boat was almost directly in front of, and perhaps twenty feet below the first pier of the dam, and right at the edge of the deep water, Corbin and Terrill let out an anchor which failed to reach bottom. The boat started drifting into the swift current and the boys were unable to pull back out of danger.

instant as it floated past the ranch of C. H. Anderson about a quarter of a mile below. The other body never again came to the surface of the water and it is believed that it may have been sucked under the apron of the dam into a deep hole.

A sad incident was the fact that the young wife of Corbin arrived at the dam just as her husband sank from sight. She had gone down to walk home with him to supper. She recognized her husband as one of the men in the water but appeared dazed and seemed to feel that he would come up again farther down the river. They had only been married since last fall and the realization of her loss came as a terrible shock.

Young Terrill's wife and sister were at the high school play when news of the drowning reached town. Mrs. Terrill had endeavored to persuade her husband not to go fishing on this particular evening and immediately suspected what had happened when told that bad news awaited her at home. She fainted, going down the stairs from the opera house, and has been in a critical condition since.

Searching parties were organized at once and a wire net was stretched across the river at the bridge just east of town. All day Wednesday men in boats dug the shores and bottom of the river and hunted beneath snags and drifts, but without locating the bodies.

Harrold Terrill was the only son of danger. The boat quickly capsized, throwing its occupants into the river. Corbin was carried a short-distance down stream, then started swimming against the current in an effort to reach shore. Terrill succeeded in climbing onto the bottom of the upturned boat, which was miraculously held stationary in an eddy between two swift channels. Corbin was swimming nicely until he struck an up-stream current which took him back again, almost to the boat. Again he tried to make shore but the strain was telling on him and he went under a couple of times just before returning to the boat. Terrill reached out a hand and grabbed his friend, pulling his head and shoulders out of the water. At that instant the boat sank and both boys disappeared from view. There were eight or ten onlookers, fishermen, on the shores, but the disaster happened so quickly that nothing could be done. Both boys wore hip boots (waders) and Terrill a heavy Mackinaw. They also had their fish baskets strapped to their backs. A few moments after the boat sank one of the bodies came to the surface of the water at a bend about a hundred feet below the dam, but immediately disappeared. It was again seen for an

Harrold Terrill was the only son of

Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Terrill, of this city, and was born in Golden, Colorado, December 23, 1893. He was married to Miss Lura Prowse on November 25, 1913, and has a little son about a year old.

J. Vere Corbin was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Corbin. He was born in Miller, South Dakota, on January 6, 1892, and was married to Miss Edith K. Howk on October 26, last.

Both young men had lived in Kalispell for a number of years. Corbin was a graduate of the Flathead county high school and had worked at the K. M. before and since graduation. Terrill attended the local schools until he also entered the service of the mercantile company. They were among the most popular employes of that big firm and the news of their death cast a spell over working associates and friends. H. C. Keith, president of the K. M. company, was deeply shocked at the sad news and has done everything possible to assist in the recovery of the bodies, offering on behalf of the firm a large reward. The families and intimate friends of the young men are grief stricken, and the uncertainty of the recovery of the bodies makes their sorrow the more terrible.

FUNERAL W. N. DAVIDSON THIS AFTERNOON

The funeral of W. N. Davidson, who died Wednesday morning at the Sisters' hospital, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Masenic Temple, under the auspices of the Masonic lodge of which he was a member. Interment will be made in Coaral cemetery.

Mr. Davidson was a pioneer resident of the Flathead. By profession he was a contractor—and a good one. A number of Kalispell's business blocks, including the court house, were constructed under his direction. A host of friends deeply regret his untimely death. Mrs. Dave Shiel of this city is a daughter of the deceased. The funeral this afternoon will be conducted by Rev. George McVey Fisher, who has been a friend of Mr. Davidson for more than a score of years.

DROWNING AT GLACIER PARK

The report of a drowning at Glacier Park seems to be authentic, although the details are lacking. A woman tourist, Miss Jane Davis of Scranton, Pa., on horseback while fording Two Medicine creek was the unfortunate victim. The horse evidently lost its footing and went under carrying the passenger into the swift current.

Mrs. Anna Delew, bookkeeper at the State Bank of Somers, received word Saturday morning that her husband, J. R. Delew had died at St. Joseph hospital in London, Ontario. He had been ill with paralysis for almost three years. She left that evening to attend the funeral which will be held there. Her friends condole with her in her sorrow.

TWO LIVES LOST IN TROY WRECK

NO. 4 STRIKES SLIDE AND ENGINE JUMPS INTO KOOTENAI RIVER.

The first authentic story of the wreck near Troy last Saturday morning in which Engineer H. A. McGinn and Fireman E. Dempster lost their lives was brought back Sunday. T. A. Koppang, owner of the Ford garage, had expected to return home from Spokane on the ill-fated train but pressing business kept him until the next day. The train on which he returned stopped at the scene of the accident and the passengers got a close view of the wreck.

According to Mr. Koppang there had been a land and rock slide across the track on a steep curve, where one can look almost straight down into the Kootenai river. No. 4 struck the slide, the engine and tender went completely over the bank into the river. The baggage car hung on the bank, with one end at the brink of the river and the other almost to the track. The passenger coaches were not derailed but five members of the train crew, two women passengers and four Italian laborers were more or less seriously injured. They were attended by Dr. W. E. English of Troy, who was rushed to the scene by special train.

The track was clear half an hour before the wreck, when the track walker passed the point, and it was the impression of railroad men that the slide hit the track at the point about the same time the engine did, thus preventing the engineer from throwing on the reverse, which the trainmen would have felt.

Engineer McGinn, age 45, lived at 534 Regal street, Hillyard, and is survived by his widow and five children, Richard, age 16; Arthur, age 15; Francis, age 13; Marion, age 7, and Margaret, age 5. Fireman Dempsey was unmarried. McGinn was one of the oldest employes on the road and lived at Whitefish until about six years ago. At one time he ran on the local branch line, and he was well known here and at Whitefish. His wife's father, Mr. Brown, is a resident of Columbia Falls.

The bodies of the engineer and fireman had not been recovered Sunday and divers were taken out from Spokane to search for them. Mr. Koppang states that the engine and tender are completely submerged and that ripples on the surface of the water point out their location. Whether or not the missing bodies were pinned in the engine could merely be conjectured.

W. A. DUBOIS DEAD.

W. A. Dubois died at his home on 4th Avenue east yesterday morning after a lingering illness of several months. Brief services will be held this afternoon at 4:30 at the residence, and the body will be shipped on the night train to Hook City, Iowa, where interment will be made.

Mr. Dubois came here with his family about five years ago from Iowa, during that period made a host of friends. He was sixty-five years of age at death, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. W. A. Dubois, a daughter, Miss Daley, of this city and a son, Dr. W. L. Dubois, of Hook City. The bereaved ones will receive the remains to the old home.

A. E. ECKENBECK PASSES.

Odd Fellow and Well Known Resident Dies of Heart Disease.

A. E. Eckenbeck, well known for many years as a resident of Kallspell and a member of the Odd Fellows, died of heart failure in the Melrose hotel early Monday. He was one of the proprietors of the Little Mint cafe and in his lumbering days was employed by the Cooran Lumber company, the Howman Lumber company and several other lumber concerns.

He seemed to be in good spirits Saturday night, according to the landlady, Mrs. Brooks, who upon hearing a noise as if a body falling in Mr. Eckenbeck's room some time after midnight, investigated, found him lying face downward on the floor and summoned a physician and the coroner.

Leo McErmott, his partner in the restaurant, has wired the deceased man's relatives, who will make arrangements for the funeral.

The funeral of A. E. Eckenbeck will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday, October 8, at the Waggener chapel. Burial will be made in the Central Memorial Cemetery. Mrs. A. E. Eckenbeck and daughter and son-in-law arrived from Gold Butte, Mont.

Richard Eckleberry died on Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. [Name], at Deer Park. The funeral will be held this afternoon at Fairview.

Mr. Richard Eckleberry, an old and well respected resident of Deer Park, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. [Name] on last Wednesday, 5:00 a. m. and was laid to rest in Fairview cemetery on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Eckleberry came to the Falls in 1887 with his family and has continued to live here ever since. His wife preceded him to the great beyond two years ago. He leaves ten children to mourn his departure, besides a host of friends to grieve his loss. He was a soldier of the Civil War, having served three years in the army and albeit a southern man, a native of Virginia, yet he enlisted with the boys in blue as he said he felt it his duty to do. He was a very quiet amiable person and will be missed by all.

The funeral of the late Mr. Eckleberry at the Fairview cemetery was attended by a large number of people. Rev. Totten preached the funeral sermon, and the choir sang some beautiful hymns, after which he was greatly laid to rest. The sympathy of the community is with the family in their hour of sorrow.

Eicher Mrs John 2 Jun 1916 p3

Mrs. John Eicher was buried in the Union Chapel cemetery Thursday, funeral services being preached in the chapel. A large number of friends followed to the grave. The late Mrs. Eicher died very suddenly and left a young family behind her. Mr. Eicher has the deep sympathy of his many friends in this the hour of sorrow.

Elliott girl of Isaac 18 Aug 1916 p3

The little two-year-old girl of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Elliott of Bad Rock died last Sunday of stomach disease. Dr. Robinson of the Falls was called also Dr. Pardy of Whitefish, but were unable to save the child.

Friedenburg Mrs Charles 19 Dec 1916 p4

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Friedenburg, who recently lived at Gateway, was held this morning at 11 o'clock from the Presbyterian church. The body was brought to Kalispell Sunday evening. Mrs. Friedenburg was a pioneer resident of the Plathead.

22 Dec 1916 p7

The many friends of Mrs. C. Friedenburg were shocked to hear of her death though knowing she was in poor health for some time. Those who were notified went to Kalispell Tuesday to attend the funeral and the heart-felt sympathy of the many friends follow husband and daughter back to Gateway, where they reside.

Galloway William 28 Apr 1916 p8

A telegram was received yesterday by Sheriff Metcalf from Superintendent Scablan of Warm Springs, stating that William Galloway had died. Mr. Galloway was an old soldier and had just been committed to the state institution last week. He was in poor health and ailing rapidly.

Gette Earl 3 Oct 1916 p1

BOY DIES OF DRINKING POISON.
Earl Gette, aged two years, son of Mrs. Alice Gette of Bigarm, died Sunday of the effects of drinking fly poison while playing about the Big Arm hotel last Thursday. The boy was near his mother, who is employed at the hotel, at the time. Dr. Ramsey of Dayton was summoned but found the child beyond medical assistance. The funeral was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bude.

Gibbs Mrs S M 10 Nov 1916 p4

S. M. Gibbs has gone to Long Beach, California to attend the funeral of Mrs. Gibbs, who died there Tuesday morning.

FRED CULVER GOODWIN

The funeral of Fred C. Goodwin, who died at his home on Second Avenue east, north, Saturday afternoon, was held yesterday at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church. Death resulted from heart failure, combined with Bright's disease, with which Mr. Goodwin had been suffering for several months. The funeral was largely attended by friends of the deceased and his family, Rev. Heizer conducting the services. Interment was made in Central cemetery.

Fred Culver Goodwin was born August 5, 1860, in Padstow, England, and at the age of eleven years, having lost both parents, the boy sailed on an ocean ship. After four years in which he journeyed nearly around the world, young Goodwin went to Goodrich, Ontario. On October 15, 1880, he was married to Miss Annie Thomas, at Emerson, Manitoba. To them was born two children, one of whom, a son, Arthur, survives. The family came to Kallispell in May, 1909, and has resided here since. Mr. Goodwin had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for many years.

The funeral of the late Oke Grier took place Tuesday. His sudden death came as a severe shock to his many friends. He died in Iowa of pneumonia contracted on the way there. The Rev. Mr. Heizer of Kallispell preached the funeral sermon and a quartette sang some beautiful selections, after which he was gently laid to rest beside his father and sister in the Holt churchyard. The deepest sympathy goes out to the mother, brothers and sister from the entire community in this their hour of sorrow.

FORMER KALISPELL MAN IS KILLED AT OHINGOOK

A telegram was received yesterday by Sheriff Metcalf, notifying him of the death of Ambrose Hagel at Ohingook. Hagel was killed by a train but no particulars have been learned. He will be remembered by many people in this city, having worked at one time for Al Bennett, also for A. Heizer. He went to Deven about a year ago to work for Isaac Moran. Hagel had a brother and niece in Wisconsin.

MRS. HANNAH HANSON.

Mrs. Hannah Hanson, died at her home at Forrest Lake ranch, April 12, 1916. Born the 10th day of February, 1849, she came to the United States from Norway in 1881. Moved from Duluth, Minnesota, to Montana in 1901 and has lived in the Platteau ever since. Mrs. Hanson raised a family of ten children, eight of whom are living (four boys and four girls). She lived to enjoy the comfort of twenty-two grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. All of her children except one returned to the old home for the funeral. Mrs. Hanson devoted her life to her family and her death is mourned by a wide circle of friends.

Engineer John Harding, a pioneer of Whitfish was killed last week in an accident at Port Angeles, Wash. The engine he was running went through the bridge, instantly killing Mr. Harding while Mr. Foreman, an expert having jumped from the engine just previous to the accident. The elder settler, in Whitfish, will remember Mr. Harding and will regret the loss of the disaster.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HARBHMAN.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Samuel Harshman occurred at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the family residence. The services were almost identical with those for Mr. Harshman last November and, in keeping with the desires of both, void of all pretensions. Rev. G. M. Fisher, a life-long friend and neighbor, spoke with the greatest difficulty of the esteem and affection held for Mrs. Harshman by countless friends. The casket was banked with the most beautiful profusion of roses, carnations and lilies. The body was tenderly carried to its last resting place by the side of the husband whom she had followed so quickly into the realm of eternity. The pallbearers were J. E. Hussey, Jack Graves, Charles Smithers, G. G. Hanch, E. H. Gay and Dr. A. H. Cutler.

Haskell Eunice 1 Sep 1916 p8

MRS. EUNICE HASKELL DIES.
Injury Caused by Fall Is Fatal to Aged Woman.

The funeral of Mrs. Eunice Haskell, wife of Dallas Haskell, was held at the Haskell residence in Columbia Falls Friday afternoon. Mrs. Haskell, who was well known throughout Flathead valley, died Wednesday at the ranch near Columbia Falls. Mrs. Haskell has been confined to her bed since she fell down stairs and broke her thigh about a month ago. Had she lived until Thursday she would have celebrated her golden wedding anniversary and her 69 birthday.

Mrs. Haskell leaves her husband, a son, Arthur, and daughter, Mrs. A. H. Cole.

Hellman John 3 Oct 1916 p6

John Hellman passed away at his home Wednesday after a long illness with cancer. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 a. m. at the Catholic church. Father Van Agt officiated, assisted by the choir. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery. Mr. Hellman had been a resident of this neighborhood for 23 years and was highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a widow and four children: four brothers, a sister, and an aunt to mourn his loss.

Hibbard WR 20 Jun 1916 p8

OLD TIME CONDUCTOR IS DEAD.

Mr. W. R. Hibbard, a conductor on the Great Northern, and well known in this city, died at his home in Spokane Sunday afternoon after a lingering illness from Bright's disease. The deceased with his family made their home in Kalspell at the time that this point was a division on the Great Northern, but when the division was removed, they went to Whitefish, but during the past few years he has made his home in the Washington city. He was about 47 years of age at the time of his demise and leaves a widow and one child to mourn his loss. The remains are being shipped to Kalspell for interment and the funeral will be held at the Masonic Temple this afternoon under the auspices of the Elk's lodge. The deceased also belonged to the Masonic lodge and the pall bearers will be chosen from among local members of the Shrine.

23 Jun 1916 p8

FUNERAL POSTPONED.

The funeral of W. R. Hibbard was to have taken place June 23rd, but has been postponed indefinitely. He is on the road from Spokane on account of high waters, it will be three or four days before he reaches Kalspell. The Masons are in charge of the funeral and will be notified when it will take place as it is possible for telegrams to be sent at this city.

DEATH FROM MEASLES.

The six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Higgins of Sumner died last evening at five o'clock at the family home. Death resulted from measles. Undertaker Waggoner was called and the body for burial. The funeral possibly will be held Monday. The grandparents of the child are expected from the east, having been notified last night. Mr. Higgins is a foreman at the Sumner Lumber company here.

7 Mar 1916 p2

This afternoon occurred the funeral of Joseph Higgins, the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Higgins. Rev. Williamson conducted the services at the Methodist church, where a large number of friends had gathered to express their sympathy. The flowers were many and beautiful. Interment was made at Bethel.

ANOTHER OLD TIMER CROSSES THE DIVINE

H. E. Huntsinger, one of the old timers of the Flathead valley, died last night in this city last Sunday afternoon. Death was due to the result of a cancer from which he had been suffering for a number of years, for which everything possible had been done to cure. Only a short time ago he made a trip to Rochester, Minnesota, and the Mayo Brothers performed an operation upon him, but did not hold out any hope on his recovery at that time. The funeral will be held from the Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. The remains laid to rest in the Flathead cemetery. Mr. Huntsinger came to the Flathead valley when Kalama was in its swaddling clothes and has watched it grow from a mere village to its present proportions, and his presence will be greatly missed by the many who remain and enjoy getting together occasionally and going over some of the experiences when things in the Flathead were as nature had made them. The relatives of the deceased will be glad to receive the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

Hubert Bull

The funeral of Henry E. Huntsinger was held yesterday afternoon, the Odd Fellows conducting the service. The services were made in the Grand Central Cemetery and was largely attended by friends of the family.

MRS. J. H. JURGENS.

A beautiful tribute to the life of a noble woman were the last and rites in memory of Mrs. J. H. Jurgens. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from the Whiteoak home, and was largely attended by friends of the deceased and her family. The Christian Science burial service was used. Mrs. Charles Swaney sang two of Mrs. Jurgens' favorite anthems, "The End of a Perfect Day," and "Shepherd Show Me How to Go." The pall bearers, all old friends of the family, were D. R. Peizer, S. M. Logan, John Ahnes, S. E. Salvo, J. E. Bussey and John Herman. Brief services were held at the cemetery. The body was tenderly carried over a path of flowers to its last resting place. The grave and casket were strewn with beautiful floral offerings, the pale lavender flowers which Mrs. Jurgens had loved so well, predominating. Meek tribute they were to the love and respect for one, who died as she had lived, one of the noblest of God's noblest creation—women.

DIED AT COUNTY HOSPITAL.

George Kennedy, an inmate of the county hospital, died about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death resulted from heart trouble. Kennedy had no relatives here, and little is known about him. He was about thirty years old. Burial will be made tomorrow in the Demersville cemetery.

Gladys, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kork passed away on Sunday night, after an illness of several days. Funeral services were held at the Methodist church and burial taking place at Bethel cemetery.

John Lauterbach died at the Sisters' hospital yesterday morning from an attack of pneumonia.

The funeral of Clay Lennon, the 4-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lennon, of Somers, will be held today in the Fairview chapel, with interment in the Fairview cemetery.

Clayton Lennon, aged 4 years and 9 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lennon, Jr., died last Monday morning at 6 o'clock at the home of his parents in Somers to which place the family had lately moved. The little had suffered greatly with inflammatory rheumatism for some time and no help could be found for him. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery, Rev. Smith delivering the sermon. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

Walter A. Lind, an inmate of the county hospital, died early yesterday afternoon of dropsy. The body probably will be shipped to North Dakota for

Loy Katherine 20 Jun 1916 p8

MRS. LOY DEAD.

Mrs. Katherine Loy wife of John Loy, who resides near Rose Crossing; died at the Sisters Hospital in this city Sunday after an illness that has lasted for several years, she having been bedridden for the past fourteen months. The immediate cause of her death was heart disease, brought on by a complication of diseases. Besides her husband, the deceased leaves a son and daughter and a sister living here to mourn her death. Funeral arrangements will not be completed until word is received from distant relatives, but is thought that it may be held on Thursday afternoon. The relatives have the sincere sympathy of their many friends in this hour of sorrow.

Main son of Charles H 11 Aug 1916 p8

Word has just been received that the little two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Main formerly of this city, died of pneumonia at the Deaconess hospital in Great Falls on August 7.

W. L. MARCY DEAD.

William L. Marcy, city treasurer, passed away Tuesday morning at the Sisters' hospital where he had been for several weeks. For some time he felt that he had been suffering from a complication of diseases and has been in serious condition for the past ten days.

Mr. Marcy came here about six years ago from Chicago and is mourned by a large circle of friends, which he has made since his residence in Flathead. His funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the Episcopal church, Rev. Linley reading the service. Interment was in Conrad memorial cemetery.

Martin Ella 18 Apr 1916 p6

DEATH OF MRS. MARTIN.

The community was shocked last Friday afternoon by the death of Mrs. Ella Martin, wife of Deputy Sheriff W. H. Martin. Mrs. Martin's death followed an operation which proved more serious than had been anticipated, and was a terrible shock to the family and many close friends. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Masonic Temple, under the auspices of the Rebecca lodge, The Eastern Star, of which Mrs. Martin was also a member, will assist in the ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Triplett, parents of the deceased, arrived last night from Sutherland, Iowa. A brother, Ed Triplett, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Sweener, both of Sutherland, and two other sisters, Mrs. Loretta Miller, of Sheldon, Iowa, and Mrs. May Rhoades, of Leonard, N. D., arrived with their parents. J. B. Martin, a brother of Mr. Martin, and his family are in the city from Roma.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin and their one child, Clarice, moved to the Flathead in 1910 from Iowa. They located at Polson but soon afterward Mr. Martin became a deputy sheriff and a few years of residence in this city have endeared themselves to a host of friends.

Mrs. Ella Martin was the kind woman whose life, however brief, leave marks of esteem and admiration which can never be effaced. Her death in early womanhood, at the very time when life means most, is one of those mysteries which eternity alone can solve. Taken from a home of happiness from the care of a beautiful daughter and the love of a worthy husband, human sympathy and confidence seem barren and cold. Nothing within mortal power can bridge the gap which has been left by the swift, cold stroke of death. To the loving relatives, to the motherless child, to the generous, whole-souled husband, the generous, only state that, in their irreparable loss, they have the deepest sympathy of everyone.

MIKE MATT DIES

Word was received here Tuesday of the death of Mike Matt at some time in Arizona where he went a short time ago in hopes that the change of air might be beneficial to his health, says the Pullman Courier. The body will be brought back to Seattle and interment will probably be at the Mission. Mr. Matt has been a sufferer from consumption for a long time and his friends and relatives had advised him to try another climate long ago but he refused to do so until he became so bad that it did him no good. He was one of the best known men in the valley having resided here practically all of his life.

DIES ON FISHING TRIP.

John Maule Succumbs to Poisoning After Reaching Rancher's Home.

The body of John Maule, of Bynum, will be taken to that place from J. E. Waggener's undertaking establishment Tuesday night for the funeral services. Maule died Saturday morning of poisoning at a homesteaders house on Shaffer's meadows about 25 miles south of Eureka. Charles Waggener was called and took charge of the body.

Maule with a pack train was on a fishing trip. It is not known whether he was poisoned by wild berries or by beans he ate after they had stood in an open container. He made his way to the ranch after he was taken ill and died shortly after he arrived there. Maule is survived by a wife and two children. His brother-in-law, G. L. Cook, came here to take charge of the body.

TWO LIVES LOST IN TROY WRECK

NO. 4 STRIKES SLIDE AND ENGINE JUMPS INTO KOOTENAI RIVER.

The first authentic story of the wreck near Troy last Saturday morning in which Engineer H. A. McGinn and Fireman E. Dempster lost their lives was brought back Sunday. T. A. Koppang, owner of the Ford garage, had expected to return home from Spokane on the ill-fated train but pressing business kept him until the next day. The train on which he returned stopped at the scene of the accident and the passengers got a close view of the wreck.

According to Mr. Koppang there had been a land and rock slide across the track on a steep curve, where one can look almost straight down into the Kootenai river. No. 4 struck the slide, the engine and tender went completely over the bank into the river. The baggage car hung on the bank, with one end at the brink of the river and the other almost to the track. The passenger coaches were not derailed but five members of the train crew, two women passengers and four Italian laborers were more or less seriously injured. They were attended by Dr. W. E. English of Troy, who was rushed to the scene by special train.

The track was clear half an hour before the wreck, when the track walker passed the point, and it was the impression of railroad men that the slide hit the track at the point about the same time the engine did, thus preventing the engineer from throwing on the reverse, which the trainmen would have felt.

Engineer McGinn, age 45, lived at 534 Regal street, Hillyard, and is survived by his widow and five children. Richard, age 16; Arthur, age 13; Francis, age 13; Marion, age 7, and Margaret, age 5. Fireman Dempsey was unmarried. McGinn was one of the oldest employes on the road and lived at Whitefish until about six years ago. At one time he ran on the local branch line, and he was well known here and at Whitefish. His wife's father, Mr. Brown, is a resident of Columbia Falls.

The bodies of the engineer and fireman had not been recovered Sunday and divers were taken out from Spokane to search for them. Mr. Koppang states that the engine and tender are completely submerged and that ripples on the surface of the water point out their location. Whether or not the missing bodies were pinned in the engine could merely be conjectured.

Mrs. Hubert Michel was found dead in the hay shed at the home ranch last Wednesday forenoon and all indications pointed to her having taken carbolic acid. No one was home at the time and it was sometime before the body was discovered. Sickness and worry are supposed to have been the cause of the rash deed. She was born in Germany, May 6, 1860; came to the Flathead in 1893 where she has continued to reside ever since. She was a woman of sterling qualities, ever ready to help in time of need, and always busy for the interests of her family. She will be keenly missed as a friend and neighbor as well as by her family. She leaves to mourn her a husband and four sons, William, Amos, Roy and Herman, all grown; also a sister in Michigan. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at the Fairview chapel; sermon by Rev. Smith of Columbia Falls, and interment in Fairview cemetery. The pall bearers were, Dennis Sullivan, August Oertel, Bert John, Henry Brandenburg, John Hall, and Dougal Gilchrist. The services were conducted by the Royal Neighbors of which the deceased was an honored member. A very large gathering followed the remains to their last resting place.

BODIES NOT RECOVERED FROM TREACHEROUS STILL WATER

Harrold Terrill and J. Vere Corbin, Popular Young Men, Drown While Fishing at Northwestern Dam Tuesday.

The search for the bodies of Harrold Terrill and J. Vere Corbin, who were drowned Tuesday evening at the Stillwater dam, has gone on almost incessantly the last two days. Yesterday a crew of rivermen from the Somers Lumber company assisted in the work, but without success. Large rewards have been offered and the search will be continued up and down the river today. Because of the rily nature of the stream, it is feared that the bodies may not be recovered.

The community was shocked Tuesday evening by the news of the drowning of Harrold Terrill and J. Vere Corbin, well-known and popular young men, in the Stillwater river. Both boys were employed at the K. M. and immediately after work went to the dam near the Northwestern mill for a couple of hours' fishing. They waded out in the shallow water from the south bank, just below the dam and fished there for perhaps half an hour without success. Deciding that they could have better luck near the swift water, the boys secured an old tub of a boat from a small boy and started out. When the boat was almost directly in front of, and perhaps twenty feet below the first pier of the dam, and right at the edge of the deep water, Corbin and Terrill let out an anchor which failed to reach bottom. The boat started drifting into the swift current and the boys were unable to pull back out of danger.

As it floated past the ranch of C. H. Anderson about a quarter of a mile below. The other body never again came to the surface of the water and it is believed that it may have been sucked under the apron of the dam into a deep hole.

A sad incident was the fact that the young wife of Corbin arrived at the dam just as her husband sank from sight. She had gone down to walk home with him to supper. She recognized her husband as one of the men in the water but appeared dazed and seemed to feel that he would come up again farther down the river. They had only been married since last fall and the realization of her loss came as a terrible shock.

Young Terrill's wife and sister were at the high school play when news of the drowning reached town. Mrs. Terrill had endeavored to persuade her husband not to go fishing on this particular evening and immediately suspected what had happened when told that bad news awaited her at home. She fainted, going down the stairs from the opera house, and has been in a critical condition since.

Searching parties were organized at once and a wire net was stretched across the river at the bridge just east of town. All day Wednesday men in boats drugged the shores and bottom of the river and hunted beneath snags and drifts, but without locating the bodies. Harrold Terrill was the only son of danger.

The boat quickly capsized, throwing its occupants into the river. Corbin was carried a short distance down stream, then started swimming against the current in an effort to reach shore. Terrill succeeded in climbing onto the bottom of the upturned boat, which was miraculously held stationary in an eddy between two swift channels. Corbin was swimming nicely until he struck an up-stream current which took him back again almost to the boat. Again he tried to make shore but the strain was telling on him and he went turning to the boat. Terrill reached out a hand and grabbed his friend, pulling his head and shoulders out of the water. At that instant the boat sank and both boys disappeared from view. There were eight or ten onlookers, fishermen, on the shores, but the disaster happened so quickly that nothing could be done. Both boys wore hip-boots (waders) and Terrill a heavy mackinaw. They also had their fish baskets strapped to their backs. A few moments after the boat sank one of the bodies came to the surface of the water a few rods above a hundred feet below the dam, but immediately disappeared. It was again seen for an

Harrold Terrill was the only son of Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Terrill, of this city, and was born in Golden, Colorado, December 23, 1893. He was married to Miss Lura Prowse on November 25, 1913, and has a little son about a year old.

J. Vere Corbin was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Corbin. He was born in Miller, South Dakota, on January 6, 1892, and was married to Miss Edith K. Howk on October 26, last.

Both young men had lived in Kalispell for a number of years. Corbin was a graduate of the Flathead county high school and had worked at the K. M. before and since graduation. Terrill attended the local schools until he also entered the service of the mercantile company. They were among the most popular employees of that big firm and the news of their death cast a spell over working associates and friends. H. C. Keith, president of the K. M. company, was deeply shocked at the sad news and has done everything possible to assist in the recovery of the bodies, offering on behalf of the firm a large reward. The families and intimate friends of the young men are grief-stricken, and the uncertainty of the recovery of the bodies makes their sorrow the more terrible.

BOTH BODIES RECOVERED

REMAINS OF HAROLD TERRILL AND VERE CORBIN WERE FOUND LATE SUNDAY

Church Was Filled to Capacity With Former Friends and Relatives of the Two Young Men.

The bodies of Vere Corbin and Harrold Terrill, the young men who were drowned at the Northwestern dam on the evening of June 6th were recovered Sunday late in the afternoon. The body of Terrill was found in the eddy just below the railroad bridge by the Masters boy. Word was immediately telephoned to the sheriff's office and in a short time Sheriff Metcalf, Deputy Martin, Coroner Waggener, Dr. H. T. Terrill, the father of the deceased, and Garland Prowse, a brother-in-law of the deceased, were on the scene and removed the body from the water. It was immediately brought to the morgue and hope expressed that as one of the unfortunate boys had been found, that the other would soon be located. And in a very few minutes, Mrs. C. H. Anderson, who lives a short distance below the dam telephoned in that the body of Corbin was floating in an eddy just opposite their house. The sheriff and his deputy immediately returned to the river, Deputy Martin wading into the river to his neck and securing the body.

On account of the length of time the two bodies had been in the water, they were in very bad condition and but for the fact that relatives could recognize the clothing, it would have been practically impossible to recognize either of the bodies. The body of Corbin was found almost exactly where it was seen floating shortly after the accident and where so much work was put in searching for both the bodies.

The bodies were immediately prepared for burial and the services held yesterday afternoon at the Methodist church. The obsequies were conducted by Rev. Clark, of the Baptist church and Rev. Totten, of the Presbyterian church. Both caskets were literally hidden by beautiful floral tributes and the altar was banked with the most choicest of flowers, all bearing mute but mighty testimony of the high regard and esteem these two young men were held by their numerous friends. The pall bearers were all young men from the Kalispell Mercantile Company, with whom they had formerly worked.

While it was a great relief to the relatives to have the bodies found so they might be given burial, the funeral was one of the saddest that has ever been held in Kalispell. Not only on account of the manner of their death, but they were both young men, in their twenties, with bright prospects ahead for a successful future, and to be thus cut down in the very spring of their lives was not only a severe shock to their relatives, but to the entire community as well.

The two young widows of the unfortunate men, and their parents and other relatives have the sincerest sympathy of the entire community.

DELAY THERRIAULT FUNERAL

Services for Pioneer Will Be Held at St. Matthew's Church.

The funeral of Michel Therriault will be held at St. Matthew's church Wednesday morning. Mr. Therriault died at Warm Springs where he was taken more than a week ago. He was one of the pioneers of the Flathead valley and was a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk and recorder. He leaves a wife, daughter, son and two brothers. The funeral was set for Tuesday morning but the shipment of the body here was delayed.

Miss Clara Thompson, a former teacher in the local high school, died Wednesday at her home in St. Paul Park, Minn., after a long illness. Miss Thompson won a host of friends among students and town people, and the sad news of her death is a distinct shock to the community.

T. O. TORGERSON DEAD.

T. O. Torgerson, a well known farmer who resides in Helena Falls passed away yesterday at the Sisters' hospital after a short illness. Mr. Torgerson was born in Norway, 59 years ago and has been in Flathead for a number of years and has a large circle of friends who will sympathize deeply with Mrs. Torgerson and the ten children, who are left to mourn for him. The funeral took place this afternoon from the Scandinavian Lutheran church. Interment was made in the Conrad memorial cemetery.

The funeral of Floyd Ulrich, who was killed at the Somers Lumber Co., last week, was held Wednesday at Somers and burial was at Conrad memorial cemetery.

Unknown man

FIND MAN'S BODY IN LAKE.
Corpse Will Be Buried Tuesday Without Being Identified.

The body of an unidentified man was taken from Whitefish lake Monday night by Officer Taylor of Whitefish. It was taken charge of by Coroner Waggoner and will be buried today. The body was badly decomposed and probably had been in the water more than two weeks.

The Whitefish officers were notified by some one passing the lake that the body was floating about one mile south of the upper end of the lake. Officer Taylor and a party in a launch went to pick up the body.

The body was of a man 5 feet 9 inches tall, between 30 and 35 years old, with reddish-brown hair and smooth shaved face.

MRS. YALE KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

CHIEF OFFICER OF ROYAL NEIGH-BORS LODGE MEETS DEATH ON ROAD FROM MARION.

In an automobile accident near the city Wednesday about dusk, Mrs. F. M. Yale was killed, Mrs. H. L. Newell injured and the driver of the car, A. J. Jones and Mr. Newell, who accompanied his wife, were badly shaken up.

Mrs. Yale resided at 604 Seventh avenue west and the Newells at 253 Fourth avenue west. The accident occurred just west of Kila in front of the entrance to the Frank Porter place.

The party was returning from a visit to Marion in Jones' auto livery, a Ford, and were trying to get back to KallsPELL before dark. The steering gear suddenly became uncontrollable in a sandy place in the road, the car was upset and all the occupants were thrown out violently.

Mrs. Yale struck the ground on her head and her neck was broken. She died almost instantly.

H. H. Menard, who with a party of friends was on his way to the Fishes country for a hunting trip, was passing at the time, turned his car about and brought the dead woman and the other members of the party back to KallsPELL. The body of Mrs. Yale was taken to the Waggoner undertaking rooms to await instructions from her husband, now in Canada on business, who was formerly special agent for the Great Northern railroad.

Mrs. Yale was the presiding officer of the Royal Neighbors lodge in this city.

Mrs. Newell was reported this morning as recovering from her injuries rapidly.

ZAHN FUNERAL TODAY.

The funeral of Charles August Zahn, who died Wednesday morning at the Sisters' hospital, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be from the Waggener undertaking parlors. Mr. Zahn was one of the pioneer merchants of the city and greatly liked by all who knew him. Death resulted from a stroke of paralysis with which he was afflicted on April 7. The surviving relatives are the wife, Mrs. Zahn, a daughter, Mrs. May McMillan, of Burlington, Wis., a nephew, Will Zahn, and Lou Arthur and Mrs. J. A. McArthur. Mrs. McMillan arrived from Burlington yesterday.
