Deist Russell Armstrong Joan 7 Nov 1946 pg 6- marriage

Armstrong-Deist
One of the outstanding local fall weddings occurred Saturday, Nov. 2, in the Bethlehem Lutheran church when Miss Joan Armstrong and Russell Deist exchanged vows in a double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Arno Johnson.

In the church which was beautifully decorated with baskets of white and pink chrysanthemums, potted ferns and four candelabras with tall, white lighted tapers, Mrs. Willis Cannon sang "Because," preceding the ceremony. She was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. J. M. Carlson, who also played the wedding marches.

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, was charming in her bridal gown of white embroidered satin made with a fitted bodice, long sleeves and full skirt with a slight train. A white lace Spanish mantilla was the shoulder-length wedding veil. For jewelry the bride wore a double strand of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible on which was an orchid, with streamers of white satin ribbon and pink sweethearts, rosebuds.

The bridesmaid was Miss Dora Mae Stabo of Great Falls.

The bridesroom was attended by his brother, Lawrence Deist, Howard Armstrong, brother of the bride, and Richard Kirkpatrick served as ushers. The mothers of both bride and bridegroom wore black costumes, with gardenia corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Armstrong home. A beautifully arranged table was centered with the four-tiered bridal cake, and refreshments were served to approximately 100 guests. Mrs. Archie O'Claire served the wedding cake and the Mesdames Ray Robbins and A. E. Anderson poured.

Deist.
The happy couple left early in the afternoon in Mr. Deist's three-passenger plane for a trip which includes Great Falls, Denver, Texas and southern California. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Flathead county high school. Mrs. Deist attended college in Denver, the University of Washington at Seattle and one year at the University of Montana in Missoula. She has a pilot's license and has done considerable flying locally.

Mr. Deist, whose training in the service qualified him as an instructor in aeronautics, now owns and operates the G. I. Flying School Service at Libby, at which place the young couple will make their home.
