Troy Youth Dies Under Wheels Of Freight Train

TROY — A 17-year-old Troy youth was killed when run over by an eastbound Great Northern Railway freight train about 1:30 a.m. today.

The victim was Donald Bradshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bradshaw. The death occurred on the Troy main crossing about 400 feet east of the Great Northern depot. The fatality was discovered by Norbert Voigt, Whitefish, brakeman in the caboose who spotted the mangled body between the tracks as the train cleared the crossing.

The train was moving about 10 miles an hour at the time after having just started up from the Troy yards. The unit was stopped immediately and detained until released by Lincoln County Coroner Hal Gompf.

Railway personnel said the youth had bought a ticket for Whitefish shortly before the accident and he was waiting for the Empire Builder scheduled in at 3 a.m. Station personnel said the boy was wandering around in a nervous manner and he was seen to cross the tracks. Gompf said it is apparent that the train was between the boy and the station and moving slowly. The youth apparently tried to cross back between the cars over a coupling, slipped and fell beneath the wheels. There is no indication as to what section of the train he made his attempt but it was apparently near the head end.

In addition to his parents young Bradshaw is survived by several brothers and sisters. He had previously attended North Central High School at Spokane. Funeral services are pending.
